STERLING, ILL., June 29.—Henry Capfield of Morrison, Ill., killed his wife, of whom he was jealous, last night and then took his own life. The bodies were not found until today.

The discovery was made by a daughter who entered their room and found her parents dead on the floor side by side. The shock produced nervous prostration, and her condition is critical tonight.

The murderer was 75 years old and his wife 70. They had been married for 50 years and were the parents of several children, who are prominent here. It is said by the neighbors that the couple has not been living happily for some time. She appeared young and happy, while he was aged and infirm.

QUAY LIKELY TO SEE STONE IN TWO DAYS

He Is Expected to Stop in Harrisburg on His Way Homeward.

ELKIN WILL NOT OPPOSE PENROSE

Condition of Beaver Man's Health Since the Convention Requires Rest.

WILL GO TO MAINE SOME TIME IN JULY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Harrisburg, Pa., June 29.—Senator Quay is scheduled to stop in Harrisburg on Wednesday on his way from Washington to Beaver for a heart-to-heart talk with Gov. Stone before starting for a month's rest in the Maine mountains. Stone has been looking for Quay's coming every day since the recent Republican state convention, and had almost given up hope of meeting him. The senator has been so busy with his public duties at Washington that he could not get away.

Quay and Stone have not met since their disagreement last November over the governor's dismissal of Maj. Adam M. Brown from the office of recorder of Pittsburgh. Neither of them will discuss the purpose of their proposed conference, but it is assumed that it relates to the fall campaign. Stone expects to go on the stump, and Quay, as chairman of the state committee, has no desire to deprive him of this privilege.

Attorney General Elkin, who has been at his home at Indiana since his recent disastrous campaign for governor, will be here on Tuesday, and it is likely that he will meet Quay while he is in the city. Elkin and his managers have abandoned their purpose to oppose Senator Penrose's re-election by the next legislature.

Stone and staff will leave Thursday noon in a special car for Pittsburgh to attend the Fourth of July celebration.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 29.—(Special.)—Senator Quay expects to leave for his home in Beaver tomorrow evening, perhaps stopping in Philadelphia and Harrisburg on the way. He will not return to Washington and is preparing for his summer vacation in the Maine woods. His stay there, however, will be contingent on the state of his health.

He has not been in good physical condition since the Harrisburg convention, and his close attention to matters in the senate in which he was interested, his fight on the statehood bill and the passage of the bill for the allotment of the lands of the Cherokee Indians, have drained his strength so that yesterday and today he has needed a physician's care. He felt much better this evening and announced his intention of getting away from Washington as soon as possible.

"There is nothing more to detain me here," he said, "and I understand the program is to adjourn congress tomorrow evening or early on Tuesday. I expect to leave for Beaver tomorrow and will go to Maine as soon as I can make arrangements, probably about the middle of July."

TAMMANY'S NEXT LEADER

Croker's Mantle More Likely to Fall Upon ex-Mayor Grant Than Upon Any Other.

NEW YORK, June 29.—(Special.)—Facing internal dissensions that alarms old warriors who have had their fighting abilities tried in more than one hard-fought battle, the members of Tammany hall are casting about for a new leader, one who has magnetism, dignity, an iron will, knowledge of the political game and all the other elements of leadership. Many of them think they have found their man in ex-Mayor Grant.

When Mr. Grant sailed for Europe last week he said he was not a candidate for leadership of Tammany, and that he thought the triumvirs ought to have a chance to demonstrate their ability. He will be home October 1, not long after the primaries, and just in time to take office at the hands of the new committee. There is a certainty that some one must come out of the chaos able to succeed Croker, and the feeling in favor of the former mayor has been growing faster than in favor of any other man. Mr. Grant could, it is believed bring back to Tammany more of the men Bryan and Croker drove out of it than any other man in New York, William C. Whitney or Judge O'Gorman excepted, and Whitney and O'Gorman are not possibilities.

M'KINLEY'S DEEDS.

Engraved in Stone, They Are Unveiled in Metropolitan M. E. Church, Washington.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 29.—A small tablet of white marble, bearing in letters of gold a brief statement of the life and death of William McKinley, the tribute of his friend, Judge Thomas H. Anderson, formerly of Ohio but now a member of the district bench, was unveiled in the Metropolitan Methodist Episcopal church here today. The American flag that concealed the tablet was drawn aside as the congregation sang, with deep feeling, "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

President Roosevelt and Secretary Cortelyou were present. Addresses were made by the Rev. Frank Bristol, D. D., pastor of the church; Senator Fairbanks, Representative Grosvenor and Representative Robert W. Tayler of Ohio, who now represents the district in congress formerly represented by President McKinley.

FORAKER SERIOUSLY ILL

Ailment Diagnosed as Peritonitis, But His Wife Says He Is Now Out of Danger.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 29.—(Special.)—Senator Foraker, who was taken home from the temporary White House ill on Saturday, has really been a very sick man. His ailment has been diagnosed by his doctors as peritonitis.

Much mystery is being thrown around Senator Foraker's condition. The senator has a trained nurse. Mrs. Foraker sent down word this evening that her husband was entirely out of danger, and had been able to sit up part of the day.

QUEEN EXPECTS THE CORONATION IN SEPTEMBER

Invites Danish Hussars to Return to London at That Time.

KING'S PROGRESS CONTINUES GOOD

LONDON, June 29.—King Edward's physicians announced at 9:40 tonight that the royal patient's progress was entirely satisfactory.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1902, by New York Herald Co.)

London, June 30.—With regard to satisfactory progress of King Edward toward recovery, and the probable date of the coronation, the Daily Mail prints this interesting and suggestive telegram from its Copenhagen correspondent, dated Sunday:

"The latest intelligence received from London tonight describes the king's condition as still favorable. The queen has invited a deputation of the Danish Hussar regiment, who called at Buckingham palace to bid farewell to return to London at the end of September for the coronation."

Last night passed with less incident at Buckingham palace than any other night since the operation was performed on the king. There were fewer watchers outside the palace, the public apparently having accepted the official report that the king has passed the point of immediate danger. The following bulletin was issued at 9 o'clock this morning:

"The king feels stronger, in spite of some discomfort from the wound. Nothing has occurred to disturb the satisfactory progress the king is making."

Local Discomfort Lessened.

This bulletin was not expected until 10 o'clock, consequently the few persons who were passing in the neighborhood of the palace were the only ones attracted to the announcement. When the footman had posted the notice, however, the crowds soon increased, early churchgoers stopping to read the latest news and passing on with expressions of thankfulness.

A bulletin posted at the palace at 4 o'clock this afternoon said the king's progress was in every way satisfactory, and that the local discomfort had decreased.

Sunday has again been a day of intercessional services throughout the kingdom for the recovery of the king. In the morning a vast crowd of the general public gathered at St. Paul's church. There was also present a representative gathering of government and colonial officials and uniformed colonial officers. The duke and duchess of Connaught and their children and Lord and Lady Lansdowne sat under the dome. An impressive service was conducted by the bishop of Stepney, the Rt. Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang, and at its conclusion the whole audience sang "God Save the King."

Queen Attends Services.

Queen Alexandra, the princess of Wales and almost all the other members of the royal family now in London attended a similar morning service in Marlborough house chapel, while there was a large gathering of peers and peeresses at a service held at noon in the Chapel Royal at St. James palace.

Sir Francis Knollys, the king's private secretary, the Right Hon. Sir Dighton MacNaghten Probyn, keeper of the private purse and extra equerry to the king, and almost the entire royal household attended the services in Marlborough house chapel, and the queen, who had not previously left the precincts of Buckingham palace since the king was stricken, received a most sympathetic greeting. The public was delighted with such evidence of the king's continued improvement.

Throughout the united kingdom all religious denominations made similar intercession for the sovereign's recovery. Mgr. Merry Del Val, the papal envoy

SIX MEN MISSING FROM LAKE BARGE SUNK IN A STORM

The Captain and His Family Are Saved by People of Kelly's Island.

THEIR YAWL CAPSIZED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Sandusky, O., June 29.—It is feared that at least six lives were lost in the terrible storm which raged on Lake Erie Saturday night and this morning.

Word was received here tonight that the steam barge George Dunbar went down in the storm early Sunday morning 10 miles east of Kelleys island. The barge carried a crew of 10 and 6 of the crew are still unaccounted for.

The captain, John Little of Port Huron, his wife and two daughters arrived at Kelleys island in a yawl this morning. When they reached shoal water near Kelleys island the yawl capsized and the occupants were thrown into the water. The heavy seas washed them ashore and people who were watching on shore took them in charge.

So far as is known the four who were saved are the only survivors of the crew of 10. The Dunbar was a steam barge, 140 feet in length. It cleared from Cleveland Saturday morning with coal from Alpena. Capt. Little was the owner of the boat.

The missing men are: Mate Myron Tuttlem of Cleveland, Engineer Johnson of Buffalo, Wheelsman Eck of Sheboygan, Fireman Charles Washie and three men whose names are not yet learned.

The rescued persons were Capt. Little, his wife and two daughters.

Capt. Little devoted most of his efforts in saving the lives of his family. He did not see the crew after he left the vessel and is of the opinion that if they took to a raft that they must have perished, because no small craft could live in the sea that was raging at the time.

In early life he became a machinist and during the civil war was master mechanic for the Fort Pitt foundry, and subsequently was with McIntosh & Hemphill. He was an active worker and took a great interest in the volunteer fire department, and in 1870 was an organizer of the paid department and entered the service as first chief engineer.

Since 1871 Mr. McElroy was with the Pittsburgh Gas Company until it was merged into the Philadelphia Company, and continued with the latter company until his death.

BROOKLYN AT ANNAPOLIS.

Arrangements Complete for Carrying Lord Pauncefote's Remains Abroad.

ANNAPOLIS, MD., June 29.—The battleship Brooklyn, which is to convey the remains of Lord Pauncefote to England, arrived here today. She anchored in the roadsted three miles off the naval academy. The tug Standish will transfer the casket from the academy wharf to the Brooklyn.

The remains of the late British ambassador will arrive from Washington on Tuesday. An escort consisting of two companies of marines from the naval academy, and one company from of marines, and two companies of blue jackets from the Brooklyn will meet the funeral train. All the officers stationed at the naval academy will also assemble at the railroad station, and accompany the funeral party to the academy grounds.

There will be no services here. A salute of 19 guns will be fired as the Standish with the remains aboard, leaves the wharf. It is expected that the Brooklyn will sail at 6 p. m., on Tuesday.

MANY GLASS WORKERS WILL QUIT TODAY

Plate Glass Factories Close for the First Time in History.

BIG IMPROVEMENTS TO INCREASE OUTPUT

Price War Has Been Obviated by Agreement of Small Producers to Close.

ADDITIONS WILL MAKE ROOM FOR 500 MORE MEN

The plate and window glass producing industry will be at a standstill after today. This is the first time that such a condition has existed in the plate glass trade in the United States. It will mean a month's idleness for the plate glass operatives and two months for the window glass workers, 10,000 men in the aggregate.

The plate glass workers will go out through an agreement of the producers, which the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company forced upon the smaller concerns. Some of the independent producers, till the eleventh hour, insisted that they would not close their factories for a minute. Then they came to realize the force of the threat of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company that it would otherwise throw the market open, make prices to suit itself and produce to its capacity, which is in itself sufficient to supply the entire market of the United States.

This brought the independents around to enter the agreement which provides that all producing interests close their factories during July. A year ago a similar agreement was made and abrogated. Many of these interests will use the time in making repairs and extensions at the factories. The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company and some of the independent concerns will retain in their employ an army of mechanical workers, men in the shipping department and others.

Big Improvements Planned.

During the shutdown and after it the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company will expend about $500,000 in extensions to the plants at Charleroi, Pa., and Kokomo, Ind. These additions will provide employment for 500 more men when put in operation. They will provide facilities which will increase the existing heavy production of the company, which makes it alone a producer with sufficient capacity to supply the country's consumption, and, therefore, the dictator with the independent operators. There are a lot of independent producers. They sell their product through the industrial rule that the heavy producer alone must curtail to offset the over-production. Through this condition and the fact that the Pittsburgh company, by throwing open the market, could force all others to the wall, the suspension was arranged.

It is the men of the Independent Glass Company in the window glass factories who will quit work with the ending of the last turn today. These men have been working the longest fire in the history of the industry. The men of the plants of the American Window Glass Company and the Federation Window Glass Company quit work May 15. If the plan of the American Company had succeeded the men of the Independent company would have quit at the same time. If they had it would have meant a wage advance of 10 per cent to all. Now, the wages will depend on the conferences which will be held prior to the starting of the fires in September.

Burns Predicts a Shock.

President Simon Burns of the old organization, Window Glass Workers' Association, L. A. 300, Knights of Labor, said yesterday: "The men did not know what they were doing. Their failure to accept the early closing proposition, carrying a contract for a 10 per cent wage advance, will mean more than the loss of this 10 per cent. The workers will get a shock this year that they never dreamed of."

Mr. Burns would not explain this, but it is understood that he alluded to the success of the window glass blowing machine, which will curtail costs for the operators at least one-half. The success of the machine has been established to the satisfaction of those in control. The American Window Glass Company will pay a royalty to its officers who own the patents. No other interests, it is said, will be allowed to use the machines. This will, in the course of a year, turn out the majority of the skilled men of the company. The shortage of skilled window glass labor will be eliminated and the independent concerns will have to reduce the high wages to meet the competition of the machine.

A Special Convention.

The new organization of workers, headed by John Denny, will hold a special convention on July 7. This will deal largely with internecine troubles. It is said that it will formulate no wage demand, there being an understanding that the Independent Glass Company, employing most of these men, will pay whatever wages the American company agrees to.

The Independent Glass Company will close its factories with a large stock of glass on hand, according to its officials. Much of the stock is sold and will be delivered by the time that the factories start in the fall. All interests have large stocks and the jobbers require more window glass. There will be a meeting next month which will arrange for the placing of a joint order of 500,000 boxes or more at prices probably 15 per cent above those of the last big order of the associated jobbers, placed with the American and the Federation Window Glass companies. The jobbers are holding prices which were recently advanced.

The convention of the Denny organization of workers will bring together about 100 delegates, representing 45 preceptories.

Lake Schooner Reaches New York.

NEW YORK, June 29.—An unusual arrival in the port of New York today was that of a lake-built schooner, the Linerla, constructed at Manitowoc, Wis., in 1884, and hailing from Milwaukee. The vessel sailed from Menominee, Mich., on April 28. She was 24 days on the voyage from that port.

FRIGHTENED TO DEATH BY THE VISION HE SAW

WEAK HEART GAVE UNDER THE STRAIN

A terrifying dream, one of many that had unnerved him, frightened Joseph G. Schrader to death yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at his home at Dickson street and Roberts alley. The last dream was fatal because he was subject to heart disease. He was 30 years old and single. He had been troubled with heart disease for several years.

Last week Schrader was taken ill. He had been employed as a bartender and was compelled to give up his work. He was unable to rest at nights on account of the terrible dreams that visited him in his slumbers. At times he would jump out of bed with fright. When he awakened after these nightmares he would be nervous and exhausted. As soon as he recovered his awakening senses, he would forget what so greatly terrified him.

Yesterday afternoon he had several racking visions. His sister went to his room at 2 o'clock, and he had just recovered from a fright. He said that he would remain in bed, as he was very weak. Nothing more was thought of his condition until one hour later. His sister heard a terrible scream and a crash in his bed room. She hurried up stairs and found that he had jumped up in bed in his fright and had apparently fallen back dead.

It was learned that Schrader had been subjected to these nerve-racking visions for several months. When he was found by his sister he was lying across the bed, his head beaded with perspiration, and his lips and fingers cold. Medical aid was summoned, but it was learned that he had died almost instantly. Coroner Jesse M. McGeary was summoned, and made an investigation of the case.

LARGEST IN WORLD.

Kansas City Expects to Have a Great Cotton Mill—Will Cost $10,000,000.

KANSAS CITY, MO., June 29.—The Star says: The largest cotton mill in the world is to be built within 20 miles of Kansas City. Ten million dollars is to be invested, $3,100,000 of which has already been subscribed by eastern and western men. W. B. Smith Whaley, president of the Olympia and Granby cotton mills of Columbia, S. C., is to be president and general manager of the enterprise.

The mill will have 500,000 spindles and 12,000 looms. It will employ 4,000 operatives and have a pay roll of $2,450,000 a year. The capacity of the mills will be 170,000 bales of cotton a year, with an output of 75,000,000 pounds of finished cloth. The value of the annual output will, it is estimated, amount to $12,750,000.

Electricity will be used as motive power and several new devices will be installed. There will be four mill buildings, covering an aggregate of 2,000 acres of ground.

CUBAN NEGROES RESTIVE.

No Intention of Rebelling, but They Claim Their Rights.

HAVANA, June 29.—A meeting of the negro element in Havana, at which Juan Gualberto Gomez presided, was held here today. It was claimed that this meeting represented all the negro organizations of Cuba.

Addressing the meeting, Senor Rendon said the negroes of Cuba were being described as disturbers of the peace because they were asking for their just rights. The negro, he said, had no intention of rebelling, but if the people of Cuba are not united they could not hold their own against the Americans.

Ship Captain Blamed for Cholera.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 29.—In a dispatch from Port Arthur, the correspondent of the Novoe Vremya blames the captain of the British vessel Hinan for the recent epidemic of cholera at that port, which has caused the death of over 400 persons, nearly 300 of whom were Europeans.

TRAIN TUMBLES DOWN MOUNTAIN, ONE MAN KILLED

Thirty Passengers Are Injured and Several of Them Are Likely to Die.

KINDLING MADE OF COACH

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Colorado Springs, Col., June 29.—An excursion train on the Colorado Midland railway, coming down Ute pass from Cripple Creek, struck a broken rail this morning and seven cars were wrecked. One man was instantly killed and 30 other passengers were injured, three or four probably fatally.

The dead:

FRANCIS M. ENGLISH, a musician, Colorado Springs.

Seriously injured:

MARY O'ROURKE, aged 13, Victor; left arm torn off, face cut and internally injured; may die.

DR. ESTELLE LEWIS, Cripple Creek, eight ribs on right side broken, left wrist fractured, bruised and internally injured; may die.

FRANK GUYER, Cripple Creek, collarbone broken.

——— PARKER, head badly cut.

H. B. TUCKER, Denver, cuts, bruises and severe shock.

OSCAR PEARSON, Cripple Creek; back sprained.

The wreck occurred at Culbers siding, an abandoned station one mile east of Cascade in Ute Pass, and 12 miles from Colorado Springs. The train was crowded to its utmost capacity. The car that left the rails and went over the embankment north of the track, contained 371 passengers. The second car on the train, a day coach, was crushed to kindling wood, being turned completely over. The third coach plunged through the second, and it was in the forward end of this car that Mr. English was killed. His neck was caught between two seats and he was strangled before he could be reached.

A relief train went to the scene from this city at once and brought the dead and injured here. The injured were taken to St. Francis hospital, where all are doing as well as can be expected. The little O'Rourke girl is expected to die at any time, and Miss Estelle Lewis, a dentist of Cripple Creek, is in a very critical condition.

ST. LOUIS, June 29.—A section of a passenger train on the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad, which left here at 9:20 o'clock this evening for Texas points, was derailed at Minckie, a few miles west of this city, and two laboring men who were beating their way home to Streetville, Mo., on the blind baggage, were killed.

The dead are J. V. Humphrey and W. C. Webb or Thomas Holbert. There seems to be some doubt as to the second man's identity.

At the point where the wreck occurred an immense boulder fell on the track, spreading the rails and bounding off. When the train came along, the engine, one postal car, two baggage cars and one coach were derailed.

GEN. SMITH SAILS.

All Manila Newspapers, Even Filipino Organs, Say Kind Things About Him.

MANILA, June 29.—Brig.-Gen. Jacob H. Smith, formerly in command of the American forces on the island of Samar, who recently was tried by court-martial, left here today for San Francisco on the United States army transport Thomas. All the newspapers of Manila have printed eulogies of Gen. Smith, and even the Filipino papers say the most cruel methods of ending a war are in the long run the wisest and most humane. The Twenty-fourth infantry also sailed on the Thomas.

A detachment of United States marines and a force of the native constabulary have had an engagement with a large body of ladrones in Morong province, Luzon. One marine and seven ladrones were killed.

Steamer Returns on Fire.

NEW YORK, June 29.—The Wilson line steamer, Hindoo, which sailed from this port for Hull, yesterday, returned today on fire. Capt. Clark reports that fire was discovered in the No. 4 hold between decks at 2 o'clock this morning. The steamer at this time was 110 miles east of Sandy Hook. The fire was fought by turning steam into the hold affected and was under control upon arrival in port.

Eleven Hurt in Wreck.

DENVER, COL., June 29.—Eleven persons were injured, four of them seriously, late last night, by the wrecking of a tramway car which was returning to the city from Elitch's gardens. There were 75 passengers on the car, which was derailed and overturned on a curve, the track being slippery from rain.

BIG HISTORY MADE BY THE LAWMAKERS

This Congress Fruitful in Large Measures of Statesmanship.

SOME TO BE LAWS NEXT SESSION

Isthmian Canal and Philippine Government Foremost in Completed Acts.

DEEPEST TAX CUT IN ALL OUR ANNALS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., June 29.—The work of congress is now practically closed, so that it is possible to sum up the record of what has been accomplished during the past seven months which constitute the first session of the Fifty-seventh congress. The session has been marked by exceptional business activity, with many questions of far-reaching general interest engaging attention.

With the exception of the Cuban reciprocity bill, most of the larger subjects of general legislation have been enacted as laws, or will become such before the session closes.

Notable among these larger measures is the Isthmian canal bill, which consummates the efforts of a half century to link together the waters of the Atlantic and Pacific. Aside from its national and international importance, this bill probably involves a larger sum of money than that covering any other single undertaking by the government, outside of war expenditures.

Philippine Civil Government.

The Philippine civil government bill is another measure of far-reaching importance, extending to our remote Pacific possessions a system of internal civil government, together with coinage, currency, banking, corporation, timber and homestead laws.

Among the other important general laws enacted are those repealing the war revenue taxes; extending and making more effective the Chinese exclusion laws; establishing a tariff for goods to and from the Philippines; extending the charter of national banks for 20 years; establishing a permanent census office; restricting the sale of oleomargarine by placing a high tax on imitation butter; providing a consular and diplomatic service for Cuba; establishing an extensive system by which the government will aid in the irrigation of the arid sections of the west.

The repeal of the war revenue taxes reduced taxation $73,250,000 and is said to be the largest single reduction of taxation ever made in this country. By this step the last of the taxes imposed at the beginning of our war with Spain was wiped out.

The Philippine Tariff.

The Philippine tariff act imposes 75 per cent of the Dingley tariff rates on articles coming from the Philippines to the United States, and also imposes on articles entering the Philippines from the United States the rates of duties established by the Philippine commission.

The oleomargarine act results from several years of agitation. It places a tax of 10 cents a pound on substances colored to imitate butter.

The irrigation act is of special importance to the development of the west. It creates an irrigation fund in the treasury department into which is to be paid the proceeds of the sales of public lands in the arid states. This fund in turn is to be used in storing water and establishing irrigation systems, the irrigated sections to be open to homesteaders, who are to be charged a proportionate share of the cost of the improvement.

The Chinese exclusion law continues exclusion "until otherwise provided by law," and also applies the exclusion "to the island territory under the jurisdiction of the United States."

Bills at the Half-Way Stage.

Aside from these important laws, there are a number of measures of general importance which passed one or both houses, but have not progressed to the final stage. These include the anti-anarchy legislation, which grew out of the assassination of President McKinley. Bills restricting anarchy and throwing safeguards about the president have passed both branches of congress, but it has been impossible to reach an agreement in conference, so that the subject goes over until next December.

A bill giving statehood to Arizona, New Mexico, and Oklahoma, known as the omnibus statehood bill, passed the house, and the senate, thanks to energetic efforts of Senator Quay, has determined to take up the matter early in the next session.

The ship subsidy bill received early attention in the senate, but the end of the session has come without the measure being reported to the house. As it passed the senate, the bill grants graded subsidies to steam and sailing vessels of American building. In the house it has been deemed desirable to let the subject go over until the short session, when it is expected that a bill on the subject will be reported and urged to passage.

Appalachian Forest Reserve.

The bill creating the Appalachian forest reserve, including a vast tract in the Appalachian mountain section of the south, has received favorable attention in both houses, but has gone over for final adjustment of differences until next December.

Another bill passed by the senate and likely to become a law, changes the marine hospital service to a national health bureau, and gives the bureau larger powers and facilities for co-operating with the state health authorities in quarantine and health affairs.

The bill to establish a cable between the United States, Hawaii and the Philippines was retired by defeat in the house of representatives. A private American company will do the work.

Several other measures have advanced to a certain stage, and have then halted without much prospect for further advancement. These include the bill [illegible] the election of United States senators [illegible] direct vote of the people. It passed the house by practically a unanimous but in the senate has received little attention and is not likely to pass.

Senate Holds Up Immigration.

The house passed a bill relating to the immigration laws, codifying and amending these laws relating to important changes. It has been reported to the senate, but there is not much prospect of its passage at this session. The bill defining the meaning of conspiracy in injunction cases passed the house of representatives, but has not made much progress in the senate. On the other hand, the senate passed an important measure creating a department of commerce, to be presided over by a cabinet officer, but it has made no progress in the house, not having been reported from the committee on commerce.

Another bill of interest to the commercial world is the pure food measure which was drafted by the pure food congress, and after extended hearings, was reported from the house committee on commerce but not passed.

The Fowler bill probably was the most important financial measure which has been brought before congress. After considerable public discussion, and several conferences by members of the house, it has gone over for consideration next December. Another financial measure, known as the Hill bill, providing for the coinage of subsidiary silver and for the retirement of the present standard silver dollar, has passed the house, but has not been acted on in the senate.

Important Acts That Passed.

Among the other important measures of general legislation not heretofore named, which have been finally enacted as laws, are the following:

To prevent the sale of firearms, opium and intoxicating liquors to the natives of certain of the Pacific islands.

To promote the efficiency of the revenue cutter service and to provide for the retirement of its officers.

To refund the duties paid in Porto Rico on articles imported from the United States during the military occupation.

Appropriating $200,000 for the aid of volcano sufferers at Martinique.

Authorizing the erection of Y. M. C. A. buildings on United States military reservations.

Regulating the introduction of eggs of game birds for purposes of propogation.

Providing for the protection of game in Alaska, particularly the large game, such as moose and caribou.

Extending an invitation to the French government to participate in the unveiling in Washington of the statute of Marshal de Rochambeau.

Refunding the amount of legacy tax paid by charitable, benevolent and eleemosynary institutions.

The amount of appropriations for the session will run unusually high, owing in part to the amount required to build the Isthmian canal. When Mr. Cannon submitted a general estimate of appropriations a few weeks ago, he made the total up to that time $691,445,000. Since then the canal bill has passed, carrying a present appropriation of $40,000,000 for the franchise and enough more for the rights of Columbia and for beginning the work to carry the total up to $50,000,000. The entire cost of the undertaking is approximately $184,000,000.

A Billion Dollar Session.

Mr. Cannon's estimate also omitted contracts for future expenditure included in the omnibus public building, the omnibus claims and various other bills, aggregating a large amount. This will carry the total for the session, figuring in these future amounts, almost, if not quite, up to the billion dollar mark.

The appropriation bills have contained little general legislation, being confined chiefly to the regular needs of the various branches of the government. The naval bill provided for an addition of two armored cruisers, two battleships and two gunboats to the navy, and a provision is still in controversy as to whether one of each class of these ships shall be built in government yards.

There have been several investigations during the session which have attracted much attention. An investigation of conditions in the Philippines, conducted by the Philippine committee of the senate, has led to the examination of many witnesses high in the conduct of civil and military affairs in the islands. Another senate inquiry has related to the condition of affairs in Cuba, especially as to sugar. In the house sensational charges made in connection with the purchase of the Danish West Indian islands led to an investigation in charge of Mr. Dalzell as chairman, which disclosed the groundless nature of the charges.

ISTHMIAN CANAL MEASURE NOW A LAW

Signed by the President Saturday Night—House Holds Sunday Memorial Session.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 29.—President Roosevelt last night signed the Isthmian canal bill.

The house of representatives held a session today to pay tribute to the memories of the late Representative Cummings of New York and the late Representative Peter J. Otey of Virginia. By special direction of Secretary Moody, the Marine band was in attendance in the lobby in the rear of the hall and rendered an appropriate musical program. The widows and families of the deceased occupied the speaker's pew in the galleries, and delegations from Typographical union No. 6 of New York, the Letter Carriers' association and the New York Pilots' association came here to honor Mr. Cummings' memory.

The eulogies were exceedingly impressive, especially that led by Mr. Cannon of Illinois, the veteran chairman of the appropriations committee, who paid a tribute from the heart to the lofty character and manly honesty of Mr. Cummings.

Although services have been held in the house on Sunday on previous occasions, notably at the death of Henry Winter Davis, this was the first time in 90 years that Sunday was made a legislative day, and the house met on the Sabbath with a speaker, clerks and all the other paraphernalia that accompany the actual transaction of legislative business. Frequently in times past, the house has been in session on Sunday, especially at the close of a short session; but such sessions always have been continuations of the legislative days of Saturday, and the journal on Monday showed no session on Sunday.

A MIDNIGHT CONFERENCE.

Statesmen Trying to Agree on the Philippine Bill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 29.—The conferees on the Philippine civil government bill were in session a large part of the day. They separated about 4 o'clock and reassembled at 9 o'clock tonight. The second meeting was still in progress at midnight.

After the conference took a recess at 4 o'clock, it was said no agreement had been reached on the coinage and Philippine legislation branches of the bill, which have been the chief obstacles to an agreement; but it was said tonight indications were favorable to an agreement being reached.

June 30.—The night session of the conferees lasted until 1:30 this morning. It was not conclusive, an arrangement being made to meet again at 10 o'clock tomorrow. It was said by the conferees there was little doubt that an agreement could be reached at the session tomorrow in time to be reported to congress during the day, thus assuring a speedy adjournment.

CONSTABLE'S ACT PREVENTED LYNCHING

Italian Who Shot Aged Man Was Roughly Treated by Vengeful Crowd.

Charged with felonious assault and battery, M. Cardeimona, an Italian, was committed to the Allegheny county jail last night by Justice of the Peace H. Kennedy of Crafton on the information of James McCune.

If it had not been for the timely arrival of Constable Edward Westcott the Italian would in all probability have been lynched. He was walking in front of McCune's house yesterday afternoon. McCune is an aged person and the Italian became offensive. McCune walked back toward his house to avoid him, when the Italian drew a revolver and shot him in the left thigh. The impact of the bullet rendered him helpless. He called for assistance and his sons ran to his aid.

Cardeimona started to run and McCune's boys took after him. In a few minutes there were several hundred enlisted in the chase. The Italian was captured by the crowd near Steubenville pike and was knocked about until he was almost insensible. His clothes were torn off and his left eye almost knocked out. It was said by the physicians at the jail last night that the sight had been destroyed.

The angry crowd was about to take him to a nearby tree when Constable Westcott arrived and took him into custody. He was taken before the justice and committed to jail. Before starting for the jail several physicians were summoned to attend Cardeimona. The Italian was terrified when landed in the jail last night.

INTERESTING MEETING.

Annual Convention of Eastern Manual Training Teachers Opens Tomorrow.

The annual convention of the Eastern Manual Training Teachers' association, which opens at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow in the new Third ward, Allegheny, school building, and which will remain in session two days, promises to be interesting throughout.

A feature of the convention will be exhibits of manual training, domestic and scientific, and art work from schools from all over the country.

Superintendent John Morrow of the Allegheny public schools will deliver the address of welcome at the opening of the first session.

Among the educators who will attend the convention are Dr. R. G. Boone, superintendent of education of Cincinnati, O., who will deliver an address on "The Correlation of Manual Training in the Elementary Schools;" Miss Clara Isabelle Mitchell of the Chicago university, who will read a paper on "Manual Training," which she will demonstrate with exhibits produced in the university with which she is connected; Acting Chancellor John A. Brashear of the Western University of Pennsylvania, who will make an address on "The Care of Fine Tools," and Prof. Charles F. Bjuns, director of the New York School of Clay Workers, who will talk on "Handicraft in Clay."

Another interesting paper will be read by Miss Irene Elizabeth McDermitt of Allegheny on "Domestic Art and Domestic Science in the Development of Girls." The convention will close at noon on Wednesday.

WOUND MAY BE FATAL

Ike Harris, Who Struck John Williams With Shovel, May Be Tried for Murder.

Ike Harris, colored, of Sheraden, was committed to the Allegheny county jail yesterday on a charge of assault and battery by Burgess W. R. Bell of that place. It is alleged that he struck John Williams, another colored man, in a quarrel on Saturday night with a shovel and fractured his skull, so that he may die. Williams is at the Homeopathic hospital. His skull is fractured by a split across the top of the head, almost from ear to ear. He is 22 years old and lives in Corks run.

When Harris was taken to the jail yesterday he was accompanied by his wife and two policemen. They had him handcuffed hand and foot. He was terribly cut about the face and his clothes were nearly in ribbons. He said that he and his wife attended a party near Sheraden on Saturday night.

Williams created the trouble because he was intoxicated. He was ejected from the house twice. About midnight he went back again with some liquor which he tendered for admission. Harris undertook to drive him away, when Williams drew a long knife and cut him in the face. Harris endeavored to take the weapon from him and received several slashes in the face.

Harris started to run away. Williams followed him. On the road Harris picked up a shovel and knocked Williams in the head, rendering him senseless. He was captured in the morning. Williams was taken to the hospital. Harris was committed to jail in February, 1900, on a charge of killing Grant Bradley in the West End. He was released later, as it was determined that Bradley fell off a train and was killed.

STORM THROUGHOUT WEST

Colorado Drought Is Broken and Denver Suffers Heavy Damage—Snow Falls in Leadville and Other Mountain Points—Harvests Delayed.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

St. Louis, Mo., June 29.—This city and vicinity is the center of a rainstorm of unprecedented severity that has prevailed almost incessantly since Saturday morning. According to the local weather bureau reports 5.45 inches of rain has fallen since early Saturday morning.

The storm is the most widespread that has been experienced in this country for many years, according to weather bureau officials, extending from the Rocky mountains to the Alleghanies. In Kansas, Iowa, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania, the rainfall during yesterday and today averages from one to two inches.

Considerable damage in this vicinity, the total estimated at about $50,000, resulted from the wind that accompanied the rain. Last night the wind attained a velocity of about 55 miles an hour, blowing down trees, telephone, telegraph and trolley poles, and interfering with communication of all sorts. At least 1,000 shade trees in various parts of the city were blown down.

From the country surrounding comes reports of destruction to and the washing out of railroad tracks and bridges, causing considerable delay to trains.

Five hundred feet of the north wall of the Varied Industries Palace, at the World's Fair site, fell last night as the result of the storm, the water undermining the foundations when the wind was at its height. In places the World's Fair grounds are covered with water.

Alton Badly Flooded.

Nearly all inbound trains were greatly delayed today as a result of the storm, arriving from 40 minutes to five or six hours late. Several washouts were reported and telegraph wires are down, so that the trains could not be located.

One of the most disastrous floods in the history of Alton, Ill., and vicinity, resulted today from the heavy rains of Friday and Saturday. At 4 o'clock this afternoon it was estimated that 10,000 acres have been covered by the overflow of Wood river, which is three to six miles wide. Most of this land is either occupied by manufacturing interests or planted in crops.

The greatest single disaster caused by the flood was the destruction of the plant of the stoneware pipe company at East Alton. The loss is estimated at about $40,000. The water rose rapidly. One of the kilns was filled with stoneware and red hot. When the water reached the kiln an explosion followed. The explosion set fire to the buildings and other kilns, burning them to the ground within a short time. In East Alton the residents were compelled to use skiffs to get about the principal streets today. The station of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad was carried away by the flood and lodged in a field a quarter of a mile distant.

Railroads Are Tied Up.

The flood produced the worst railroad tie-up in recent years in the vicinity of Alton. The Big Four and the Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis railroads were hit the hardest, while the Burlington sustained the smallest amount of damage. The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, the east side line, however, had a bad washout between Upper Alton and Woods station.

Two miles of the track of the Big Four railroad on the main line and branch at East Alton have been washed away.

All the trains on the Big Four in and out of East Alton were annulled.

DENVER, COL., June 29.—The drought, which threatened to be the most severe that Colorado has known for years, has been broken by a rain as general in extent as it was copious in quantity. Though the storm in places was accompanied by hail which did much damage, this is trivial compared with the value of the crops saved by the rain.

The storm damage in Denver and vicinity is estimated all the way from $10,000 to $50,000.

Snow fell to the depth of eight inches in Leadville and many other places in the mountains.

LINCOLN, NEB., June 29.—Eastern Nebraska has had four days of almost continuous rainfall, flooding cornfields and delaying the harvesting of small grain. Country roads are almost impassable. The temperature has ranged in the fifties, today's high mark being 58 degrees. One year today the thermometer recorded 103.

FOUR STORM VICTIMS.

Falling Timbers Claim Three and and the Fourth is Struck by Lightning.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., June 29.—Three people were killed in last night's storm and much damage was done to farms in this section.

Miss Cora Kelly, a school teacher of this city, was killed by a falling tree near Dayton, Tenn. Her companion was uninjured.

James Grayson, proprietor of a sawmill, and his sawyer, Jesse May, were killed by falling timbers.

Private Joseph Quink of the Seventh infantry, while trying to prevent a stampede of horses in the government corral, was trampled upon by the animals and probably fatally injured.

Rioters Resume at Pawtucket.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., June 29.—Street cars were stoned and obstructions placed on the tracks by sympathizers of the striking motormen and conductors in this city and Central Falls today. Two street railway men were hurt by missiles. After running 10 cars during the day the traction company took all off at dusk.

Charged With Stealing Wool.

WASHINGTON, PA., June 29.—(Special.)—Chief of Police Alex. Rankin brought Albert Little and Daniel Coles here today, charged with stealing wool from Cassius Day, in Donegal township. Two hundred and fifty pounds were taken from Mr. Day last week, the wool being offered to Horkheimer Bros., at Wheeling, early the following day.

American Couple Murdered.

HILLSBORO, TEX., June 29.—It is reported from Senora, Mexico, that Henry Ward and his wife, who formerly lived near Brandon, Tex., have been murdered by two Mexican employes, who themselves were killed by pursuing officers. Mr. Ward was a wealthy cattleman.

Second Victim of Wreck.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., June 29.—A second victim of the Broad Ripple street car collision died today. William Holmes was internally injured in the crash and lived in terrible agony for several hours. The eight others injured are recovering.

UNION MINERS LEAVE CHURCH

PRIEST REFUSE TO ORDER MAN OUT BECAUSE HE WORKS.

Board Member Reap Calls on All Who Sympathize With the Strikers to Follow Him and Nearly Two Hundred Respond.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

SCRANTON, PA., June 29.—The quiet Sunday services at St. Patrick's Catholic church at Olyphant were rudely disturbed this morning by District Board Member Stephen Reap of the United Mine Workers of America suddenly leaving the building on account of the presence of a tabooed person, taking along with him a large percentage of the congregation.

It was at the 10 o'clock morning mass. The Rev. Father Murphy had just arrived and was proceeding down the aisle, when Reap arose in his seat and said:

"Father, there's a man in this church who is on the unfair list; will you ask him to leave the church?"

"No," answered Father Murphy, brusquely, "I will not."

Reap then called upon all present whose sympathies were with the mine workers and their cause to leave the church with him. Between 150 and 200 men arose and quietly filed out.

REINSURANCE LAWS.

Commissioner Barry of Michigan Advocates a Change in Legislation About It.

LANSING, MICH., June 29.—In his annual report, which has just been submitted to the governor, State Insurance Commissioner J. V. Barry expresses the opinion that the laws of Michigan respecting reinsurance work a hardship to the business interests of the state, and in return for this the state is not only receiving no adequate compensation, but is a loser in revenue. Companies are prohibited from reinsuring in any company not authorized to transact business in Michigan, thus restricting the indemnity they can obtain for themselves against excessive losses. He, therefore, recommends as follows:

"A modification of our present tax law whereby reinsuring companies, whether having treaties with other companies or reinsuring the entire business of a withdrawing company, should be required to pay a tax on the original premium, with the provision that there may be deducted from the premiums upon which the tax is computed all premiums upon which the required tax has already been paid by the initial company is advisable. This would do away with double taxation and in every way be more advantageous to the state."

THE KAISER AFFECTED.

Gets a Telegram From King Edward Expressing Regret For Torpedo Boat Disaster.

KIEL, June 29.—King Edward sent a telegram to Emperor William yesterday expressing his regrets with regard to the accident to torpedo boat No. 42, of the German navy, which was run down and sunk by a British steamer June 24, at the mouth of the Elbe, and of which King Edward said he had just been informed. He also expressed his appreciation of the fact that the last order of the commander of the torpedo boat, who was drowned, was that the Englishmen should be saved first.

The emperor replied to the king, saying he was deeply touched by this sympathetic message, which had immediately been signaled to the fleet.

"Every officer and man of the fleet," said Emperor William, in his message, "is profoundly sensible that the first act of our new admiral should have been such a kindly-worded message. They beg to express their sincerest thanks for your communication, and join me in prayers for the complete restoration of your precious health."

WAITING TILL TODAY.

Each Side Claims Advantage in U. P. Machinists' Strike.

OMAHA, NEB., June 29.—There has been no change in the situation of the Union Pacific machinists' strike today. Each side is waiting until Monday, when the effect of the strike can be noted.

The company officials declare the strike will not affect the smaller shops of the railroad, and that only the men at Omaha, Cheyenne and Armstrong, Kan., will obey the strike order. The executive committee of the strikers declares that every machinist on the road will refuse to work tomorrow morning.

Good Advice to a Theologian.

Will Moody, son and successor at Northfield of the late Dwight L. Moody, tells the following story, apropos of recent theological events, about a young convert in the Salvation Army, who, earnest and zealous, was imbued with the idea that he must speak to every one on the subject of religion. He was especialy moved one day while travelling to address a somewhat austere individual seated just in front of him. Touching him on the shoulder, he put the usual question: "My brother, are you a Christian?"

"Sir," was the reply—and perhaps with a shade of impatience—"I'm a professor in a theological seminary."

But this seemed only to call for renewed effort, and the young man was equal to it. "My dear brother," he said, "as you value your soul, don't let a thing like that stand between you and the Lord."

THE CORONATION IN SEPTEMBER

to the coronation of King Edward, conducted a service in Brompton oratory this afternoon, his congregation including Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier and other Canadians.

Buckingham palace has worn a gayer appearance today than for a week past, and the constant coming and going of royalty and streams of carriages bore testimony to the feeling of increased confidence that the king would recover. In the afternoon a party of princesses drove to Sheen house, Richmond, and the prince and princess of Wales paid a long visit to Buckingham palace. This evening the queen and the royal ladies dined within sight of the public thorough the windows in the front of the palace, many thousands of persons being gathered in the space before the building.

The king was again successfully transferred from his bed to a movable couch today.

Several postponed functions are being rearranged. Lord and Lady Lansdowne announce that their reception will be held July 1. The king has commanded that the prince and princess of Wales shall represent their majesties at the India office reception to be held July 4. Lord Cranborne authorizes the following statement:

"The king is rapidly getting better, and the moment, therefore, seems most appropriate for public rejoicing. As chairman of the bonfires committee, I suggest that bonfires throughout the country be lighted Monday night."

Russia Slights King.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 29.—The fact that no representative of the court or of the ministry called at the British embassy here to offer the sympathy of Russia in the illness of King Edward has occasioned much comment and is generally attributed to Russian chagrin on account of the conclusion of peace in South Africa. It is said upon excellent authority that Count Lamsdorf, minister of foreign affairs, admitted that this peace had upset Russia's calculations, which were based upon a much longer continuance of Great Britain's difficulties in South Africa. Count Lamsdorf is reported to be particularly nettled because Great Britain did not consult the Boer delegates in Europe in regard to peace.

REBELS NEAR CARACAS.

Overthrow of Castro Government Expected Any Minute.

COLON, COLOMBIA, June 29.—The French steamer La France, which has arrived here from La Guayra and Puerto Cabello, Venezuela, brings reports of much unrest at those ports. The Venezuelan insurgents are said to be in the vicinity of Caracas, and the overthrow of the Castro government is believed to be likely at any moment.

There are three foreign warships at La Guayra, two American and one German.

THE MOTH AND THE ROSE.

From the Boston Journal.

Apparently the brown-tail moth is here to stay, for we read in the information obtained at the state board of agriculture by a Journal reporter: "The insect is so productive that it is almost hopeless to expect that it will ever be exterminated." We also read that the brown-tail moth is more prolific than the gypsy moth.

The history of the brown-tails in this country—the pest is so far indigenous only in Massachusetts, we understand—is romantic. According to the agricultural board, the brown-tails arrived in this state in 1891 in Dutch roses consigned to a Somerville florist. They seem to have spent six years in secret preparation for hostilities, for it was not until May, 1897, that the people of Somerville gave an alarm to the already exhausted gypsy moth commission. The commission reconnoitred forthwith, and traced the new foe back to Holland.

Later in the year 1897 a lively southwest gale scattered the brown-tails along the north shore. Now the "pest has spread over an area of more than 1,000 square miles, including all the northeastern section of the state." Somerville, Cambridge, Medford, Malden, Melrose, Arlington, Everett, Lynn and Peabody have been the most notable sufferers. It might pay to have an agricultural expert among the customs officers. The brown-tail is manifestly as anarchistic as any disciple of the enobled Malatesta. Indeed, our agricultural detectives should have been on watch long ago, for they know that the brown-tails have been pestiferous in Europe for many generations; that as long ago as 1734 France passed a law enjoining land holders to look out for them.

Anyhow, it behooves Americans hereafter to fear the Dutchmen bearing roses.

Impaired Digestion

May not be all that is meant by dyspepsia now, but it will be if neglected.

The uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headache, sourness of the stomach and disagreeable belching may not be very bad now, but they will be if the stomach is suffered to grow weaker.

Dyspepsia is such a miserable disease that the tendency to it should be given early attention. This is completely overcome by which strengthens the whole digestive system.

NEW RAILROADS NOW BUILDING DOWN IN DIXIE

The Big Section West of the Mississippi Getting the Larger Share.

EAST IS NOT NEGLECTED

St. Louis and San Francisco to Acquire an Outlet on the Gulf—Birmingham to Have a New Connection With Louisville.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Baltimore, Md., June 29.—While the greatest activity in railroad construction in the south at present is in states west of the Mississippi, extensions of existing lines and plans for new ones are being pushed in the gulf states and elsewhere.

One of the largest of these is the work now under way by which the Mobile, Jackson & Kansas City Railroad Company is to bridge the gap between the present northern terminus of its line at Hattiesburg, Miss., and Pontotoc, in the same state, the southern terminus of the Gulf & Chicago railroad, which was purchased recently by the Mobile, Jackson & Kansas City. The distance between Hattiesburg and Pontotoc is about 200 miles, with Decatur midway.

F. E. Nerrill, president of the Mobile, Jackson & Kansas City, writes to the Manufacturers' Record that his company has placed the contract for 100 miles of the extension from Beaumont, Miss., to Decatur. The extension now to be built will run northerly from Hattiesburg through Perry, Jones, Jasper and Newton counties, to Decatur, and when the further extension to Pontotoc is made, it probably will pass through Neshoba, Winston, Oktibbeha, Clay, Chickasaw and Pontotoc counties.

An Outlet to the Gulf.

The completion of this extension is expected to give the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad an outlet to the Gulf of Mexico, as it now connects with the Gulf & Chicago at New Albany, Miss., a short distance above Pontotoc.

In Georgia the construction of a railroad from Louisville to Wrens, on the Augusta Southern railroad, a distance of about 18 miles, is to begin within two months. This undertaking appears to be part of a plan to have a line through the central part of Georgia connecting Augusta, on the Carolina border, with Valdosta, in the southern part of the state, another link being the Wadley & Mt. Vernon railroad's line, 27 miles long, from Valdosta to Sirmans. The Wadley & Mt. Vernon railroad extends south 30 miles from Wadley to Rixville, and at Wadley is connected with Louisville by a line 10 miles long. With the completion of its line extending north from Valdosta to Sirmans, about 100 miles of the line will have to be built to connect the two parts.

Other projects in various stages are as follows:

The Business Men's League of Ardadia, La., proposes to build a railroad six miles long to make a connection with the Louisiana & Northwestern railroad.

Atlantic and Birmingham.

The Atlantic & Birmingham railroad is pushing on toward Birmingham. The grading has been finished from Cordele to Montezuma, Ga.; preliminary surveys have been run to LaGrange, Ga., and are now in progress between LaGrange and Birmingham. This railroad will pass through a rich agricultural district in Georgia and for the first 20 miles in Alabama, but the rest of the route in Alabama will be through mineral and timber lands.

In Kentucky a company has been incorporated to build a line about 65 miles long from Milton, in Trimble county, through Carroll, Gallatin, Boone and Kenton counties northeasterly toward Cincinnati, and the line also will run west from Carrollton to Louisville.

The proposed Lake Hancock & Claremont railroad will run from a point within about seven miles of Bartow to Claremont, Fla., and will be about 50 miles long. About eight miles of it are already built and the remainder will be constructed from time to time.

Construction work on the Brunswick & Birmingham railroad is being pushed forward to Ocilla, Ga., as rapidly as possible, and from that point it is intended to carry this line on to Birmingham, thus making another direct connection between Birmingham and the seaboard.

One of the interesting electric line projects is the proposed line to extend from Knoxville to Sevierville, Tenn., a distance of 27 miles, to be operated by power derived from the Pigeon river. This railroad will be built of standard gauge to carry heavy freight and will tap with its branches a country rich in marble and timber resources practically undeveloped. Another is an interurban line connecting the towns of Van Buren, Bonanza, Jenny Jind, Greenwood, Montreal, Prairie Creek, Huntingdon, Mansfield and Hartford with Fort Smith, Ark., and it is thought that the electric railways of Fort Smith will consolidate with the new one.

JESSE JAMES' BODY IN ITS NEW GRAVE

BROTHER FRANK TOO ILL WITH GRIP TO ATTEND RE-BURIAL.

Dead Bandit's Son Superintends Exhumation and Examines the Hole in His Father's Skull Caused by Bob Ford's Bullet.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

KEARNEY, MO., June 29.—The body of Jesse James, Missouri's bandit king, was buried today for the last time in the Baptist graveyard here. The body, which had rested since his tragic death at the hands of Bob Ford in St. Joseph in 1882, was exhumed this morning at the old Samuels homestead near this city, placed in a new black casket and reburied by the side of his wife and little brother in the family lot in the cemetery on the edge of the town.

The early morning train from Kansas City brought in a little party of old Quantrell men. Frank James came here three days ago, but had gone to bed at the hotel ill with grip, and was not at the station to meet the funeral party. Neither was Jesse James, Jr. He had come down from Kansas City the night before.

The little crowd waded through the mud and held a levee, with Frank propped up in bed on pillows. Frank did not gaze on his dead brother, nor did the aged mother. Only young Jesse looked on his father when the seal of the grave was broken.

Jesse and his helpers took the long drive out to the old home, and with no ceremony opened the grave and dug down to the casket. This, at the time of the burial 20 years ago, was supposed to be one of the finest made, a solid metallic affair, air-tight and indestructible. The casket, however, was merely a sheet iron box riveted loosely together and had rusted to pieces years ago. The body was supposed to have been embalmed, but the indications are that no embalming fluid had ever touched it, for the body had resolved itself into dust.

Jesse James, Jr., picked up the skull of his father and back of the left ear found a hole, perhaps an inch long. Through it went the bullet of Bob Ford, the treacherous companion.

Cleveland Cathedral Abandoned.

CLEVELAND, O., June 29.—Trinity Episcopal cathedral, which was opened in 1855, was formally abandoned today, when impressive religious services were held. A magnificent new cathedral is being erected on Euclid avenue. The site of the present church will soon be occupied by a business block.

OTTAWA, ONT., June 29.—Sir Henry Strong, the acting governor general, was advised today that the transport Winifredian sailed from South Africa on June 27 for Halifax with over 700 Canadian troops on board. She is due at Halifax on July 22.

Gasoline Launch Burns.

BEMIDJI, MINN., June 29.—The new gasoline launch, Ranger, with 14 passengers on board, caught fire last night on Lake Bemidji, and was totally destroyed. All the passengers, including women and children, jumped overboard and were saved with slight injuries. The accident was caused by a leaking gasoline tank.

McAllister Hopelessly Insane.

NEWARK, N. J., June 29.—Cary J. McAllister, the young man who was arrested while trying to force his way into the White House with a revolver in his pocket two weeks ago, and who was placed in an insane asylum at Washington, has been brought to this city. He was committed to the county insane asylum, and is pronounced hopelessly insane.

CONGRESS WILL END ITS LABORS PERHAPS TODAY

Exact Time of Adjournment Depends Upon Philippine Agreement.

NO DANGER OF DEADLOCK

If There Are Any Features on Which the Houses Cannot Unite, They Will Be Dropped From the Bill—Unusally Clean Calendars.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., June 29.—The exact time when the present session of congress shall come to a close cannot be foretold until there is definite information as to when an agreement will be reached on the Philippine civil government bill. However, the general consensus of opinion places the adjournment on Tuesday, or, at the latest, Wednesday.

This prediction involves the opinion that the Philippine conferees will be able to conclude their work tomorrow. That they can do that is quite evident, in view of what already has been accomplished in the way of harmonizing the differences on that bill, and on account of the probability that parts of the measures will be dropped in case it should appear that no agreement can be reached except through prolonged exchange of views.

Neither house is disposed to extend the session for more than a day or two to secure agreement on all features of the bill, when it is felt on all hands that the preservation of no one feature of the bill is necessary to its success as a whole. It is not believed in any quarter that either house will consume a great deal of time in debating the conference report when presented, but lest the debate should run longer than is expected, the resolution fixing the time for adjournment will not be brought in until the Philippine conference report shall be made to and accepted by both houses.

Of the appropriation bills, the general deficiency and the naval bill remain to receive the finishing touches. There are still some points of difference on each of these measures between the two houses, but none that cannot be harmonized whenever the Philippine bill shall be out of the way. Neither house will attempt much other business.

The senate calendar contains a number of measures which can be discussed, and there is an understanding in the house that the militia bill shall be used as a basis for discussion to fill in the time when conference reports are not at hand for consideration. There also is an understanding that the London dock charges bill shall be taken up under a suspension of the rules after the adoption of the resolution fixing the hour for adjournment.

Both houses will close the session with exceptionally clean calendars, and with the feeling on all hands that it has been a session of important achievements.

HANNA'S STAG BREAKFAST

He Bars Some Serious Topics, But Tells Roosevelt He Expects Him to Begin the Canal.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 29.—(Special.)—Senator Hanna held the final session of his "summer bachelor club" at the old Don Cameron house this morning. Since the departure of Mrs. Hanna and her daughters, Senator Hanna has been seeking diversion in the entertainment of fellow-statesmen whose wives are out of town. He has had stag dinner parties every night for a week, and decided today that his festivities for the brightening of a very dull wind-up of congress should go out in a gale of hilarity at the usual corn beef hash Sunday morning breakfast. He had as his guests President Roosevelt, Secretary Root, Postmaster General Payne, Attorney General Knox and Senator O. H. Platt of Connecticut.

As topics of conversation Senator Hanna barred "the squaring of performance with promise," which was a dig at the president; the general staff bill, which applied to Secretary Root, and Cuban reciprocity, which was supposed to silence Senator Platt.

"There is one topic, Senator Hanna, that I would like to bar as far as you are concerned," said the president, as he took his seat at the table.

"What is that?" asked Senator Hanna.

"The appointment of a collector for Cleveland."

"All right," laughed Senator Hanna, "I will not mention it today, but I am coming to see you tomorrow about it."

This sally of the president's caused a hearty laught at the expense of Senator Hanna, who has been giving a great deal of attention to the charges which have been preferred against Collector Leach.

There was much fun at the breakfast, and some serious, but very friendly talk. Among other things, Senator Hanna is reported to have said to the president:

"I want you take hold of the canal matter now and get a canal under way before the next national campaign. I want you to get the credit for it, and I stand ready to do everything I can to strengthen your hands in the matter."

PROSPEROUS ISLAND.

Gov. Betts Draws a Pleasing Picture of Peace Conditions in the Province of Albay.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 29.—The war department made public a report by Gov. A. U. Betts of the province of Albay, P. I., to Acting Gov. Luke F. Wright. The report says:

"Perfect peace exists throughout the province, and at the present writing there is not a ladrone band on the hills.

"The commercial interests of the province, I am informed by the leading citizens, were never in a more prosperous condition. There is plenty of work for all who desire to work, and, in fact, the greatest complaint from the interior of the province is the lack of labor to work the hemp fields. The present high price of hemp is bringing enormous sums of money into the province. We have no difficulty in collecting the taxes imposed.

"Up to the present writing, the provincial medical board has succeeded in keeping the epidemic of cholera out of the province. Stringent measures have been adopted to keep the plague from entering the province from neighboring territory. A strict shotgun quarantine has been adopted on all rivers and mountain passes leading into this province from the Camarines.

"The plague of smallpox, which had become almost epidemic in certain portions of the province, has been practically stamped out. A corps of vaccinators has been employed during the past four months, with the result that the greater portion of the inhabitants of the province has been successfully vaccinated."

OPENING DAY OF JUBILEE

Bishop Garvey Celebrates Pontifical High Mass at St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

LARGE CROWDS ATTEND

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

JOHNSTOWN, PA., June 29.—Deeply impressive were the opening services of the celebration of the golden jubilee of St. Joseph's German Catholic church today. At 10 o'clock the Rt. Rev. Eugene A. Garvey, D. D., bishop of the Altoona diocese, conducted a solemn pontifical high mass. The Very Rev. John Boyle, V. G., rector of St. John's, was the presbyter assistant, and the deacons of honor were Father Otto and Father Corbinian, the former of Kentucky, the latter of Chicago, and both former pastors of St. Joseph's.

Father Aurelius of St. Vincent's college, Latrobe, was first master of ceremonies, and Father Schonhardt, of Augusta, Ga., was second master of ceremonies. The priests in the sanctuary were the Rt. Rev. Leander Schneer, archabbot at St. Vincent's; the Rev. Father John C. Farren, rector at St. Columbas; the Rev. Father John N. Baush, rector of St. Mary; the Rev. Father Hugo Paff, O. S. B., of Wilmington, Del.; the Rev. Father Reich of Augusta and the Rev. Father Wilfrid of Baltimore.

The Rev. Father Florian Widmann, Rector of the Sacred heart church at Elizabeth, N. J., delivered the sermon in German. He told the history of the congregation of St. Joseph. Bishop Garvey made a short address at the conclusion of Father Widman's sermon. Archabbott Leander conducted solemn pontificial vespers this evening and again the church was crowded. Father Otto Kopf of Kentucky was the presbyter assistant, and the deacons of honor were Father Hugo Paff and Father Florian Widmann. Father Schonhardt and Father Reich, were the chanters. The masters of ceremonies were Father Aurelius and Father Fridolin.

BUTLER, PA., June 29.—An event of interest to Lutherans is the celebration of the diamond jubilee of St. Mark's German Evangelical Lutheran church here, which began this morning and will continue until Tuesday. Today's services began at 10:30 with a German address by the Rev. J. G. Butz of Zelienople and an English address by the Rev. H. J. Reinman of Oil City. At 3 o'clock this afternoon the services were conducted by the Rev. William Herley of Columbus, O.; the Rev. A. L. Nicklas of Ann Arbor, Mich., and the Rev. J. Troutman of Circleville, O., all former pastors. At 8 o'clock this evening the sermon was preached by the Rev. H. J. Schule of Allegheny. On Monday evening the services will be conducted by the Rev. W. E. Schramm of Allegheny, and on Tuesday a congregational reunion will be held at the park. Lutherism in the county dates back to 1813, when the first official act of the church at Butler was recorded by the Rev. Jacob Schnee, a missionary. The Rev. Schnee was succeeded by the Rev. J. C. G. Schweitzerbarth, who had charge in this and adjoining counties and supplied 11 stations from headquarters at Zelienople.

The first pastor, the Rev. Mr. Schweitzerbarth, served for 28 years, resigning in 1849. Under the pastorate of the Rev. Mr. Cronenwett English has been introduced in the evening services and the Sunday school. Heavy drains have been made on the congregation by new Lutheran church buildings, but notwithstanding this drain made on her membership by the organization of other churches, St. Mark's has had an uninterrupted period of prosperity and usefulness and now numbers 600 communicants.

Had Premonition of Death.

CUMBERLAND, MD., June 29.—(Special.)—The remains of Harry Bowers, who was killed in the wreck at Brooks tunnel, were brought here last night for interment. It appears that Bowers had a premonition of death. Before leaving home on the morning of the accident, he told his mother that in the event of his death he wanted her to make all funeral arrangements, even directing her as to the expenses.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT PHILIPPINES

Mrs. Todd Gave an Instructive Talk on Religious Conditions in the Islands.

Mrs. Nadel Loomis Todd, the wife of Prof. Todd of Amherst college, spoke last night at the Fourth Avenue Baptist church on "Religious Conditions in the Philippines." Mrs. Todd's talk was more general than the title would indicate, and her remarks covered not only the religious conditions, but the character and customs of the natives of the Philippine islands. She was attached to the scientific expedition sent out by the government some time ago.

Of the 10,000,000 people in the Philippine islands, about 8,000,000 of them, she said, were ardent Roman Catholics, ardent in the sense that they did not care much to hear of other religions. The people were not civilized in the American sense, their education reaching what would be called the primary stage here, although there were notable exceptions among the Filipinos. It was impossible to judge justly of the Filipinos from the American standpoint, and one must first be acquainted with the Malays and other brown races to understand them rightly.

The Jesuits were popular among the natives, the speaker said, and Americans whom she had seen also declared the Jesuits devoted their attention to the education of the natives; the Augustinian friars were also not hated by the Filipinos. She had heard from an Episcopalian theological student that Episcopalian clergymen were going numerously to the islands to convert the Roman Catholics. It was her opinion that the religious bodies ought to district the island in some way, so that the same difficulty would not confront the various sects as in Japan, where the natives are bewildered with the different kinds of Christianity offered to them in the same district. Mrs. Todd told about the Igarotes, the Nagritos, the Moros and other tribes in the Philippines.

Mrs. Todd's remarks about the forests in the Philippines were a revelation to her audience, who in common with other Americans had been led to believe that the Spaniards had been too lazy or too unenterprising to avail themselves of the forest wealth of the islands. Her remarks show that the presence of the magnificent forests is owing to an entirely different reason, the wise conservatism of the Spanish laws which sought to preserve the forests as a source of wealth and, therefore, forbade the cutting of any timber under 14 inches in diameter.

In speaking of the prospects of proselyting among the Filipinos Mrs. Todd said that Gov. Todd and other American officials offered encouragement, they having reported that many natives are continually asking if the Christianity taught in America is really Christianity, and seem to be eager to learn more about it.

FIGHTING ROOM FOR WOMEN ONLY

Mayor Means of Steubenville Has Unique Plan to Settle Back Fence Feuds.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

STEUBENVILLE, O., June 29.—Mayor John P. Means has hit upon a unique plan to settle neighborhood quarrels between women. He has established a "fighting room," and he locks the women who have been quarreling over back fences in it. Then with the police he retires and leaves them scold and abuse each other till they tire out. He has tried it in a dozen cases, and it has been successful. After an hour's abuse of each other, or till they run down like clocks, they get together and are friends, and glad to get out when the mayor reappears to inquire if they want to go on and be tried. There is no law against one woman scolding another, and when one charges her neighbor with "cussing" her it has been impossible to convict.

TO BRING POPE'S GIFT.

Bishop O'Gorman Will Carry View of Rome from Vatican Studio to President Roosevelt.

ROME, June 29.—The Rt. Rev. Thomas O'Gorman, bishop of Sioux Falls, S. D., when he returns to the United States will be the bearer of a letter from the pope to President Roosevelt and will take with him the pontiff's magnificent gift to the American president, which consists of a view of the city of Rome from the vatican studio, done in mosaic.

The idea of appointing Bishop O'Gorman apostolic delegate in the Philippines appears, for the present at least, to have been abolished, although the first suggestion of this appointment was uttered by the pope himself when he first received William H. Taft, civil governor of the Philippine islands.

MACHINISTS WANT BETTER WAGE SCALE

Committee of the Journeymen Is Sent Back to Arrange a Better Settlement With Employers.

Pittsburgh district machinists to the number of 500, in mass meeting at Old City hall last night, voted that their wage committee enter another conference with a committee of the employers to secure a better adjustment on the wage demand for an advance of 10 per cent in wages and full recognition of the organization. On last Tuesday the committee representing the men and the employers drafted an agreement subject to the ratification of all employers and the men. In lieu of accepting this the mass meeting last night ordered its committee to enter a conference with the committee of machine builders of Pittsburgh today to get a better settlement.

The agreement, drafted by the joint committee continues present conditions, provides for an advance of 5 per cent on the present wages for a year from tomorrow, and that disputes be settled by an arbitration committee of five employers and five employes. It specifies as holidays, on which double time is to be paid, four of the recognized holidays. The meeting last night demanded that Memorial and New Year's days be added to the list and instructed its committee that it seek a settlement either providing for the 10 per cent wage advance demanded or as good or a better settlement as that recently secured by the molders.

Eight lodges in the district were represented at the meeting. These lodges have recently increased their membership to an aggregate of 2,750. The committee which will represent the men at the conference today is composed of Stewart Simpson and Herbert Horne of lodge No. 52 of Pittsburgh, Anthony Snyder of lodge No. 228 of Allegheny, Humphrey Campbell of lodge No. 32 of Braddock and William A. Shaw, business agent of the Pittsburgh district organization of the International Association of Machinists. The committee of employers includes George Mesta, Isaac W. Frank, Joseph Fowell, J. Jackson and A. Snyder.

GYPSY QUEEN SENT TO JAIL

Legerdemain an Alleged Cloak for Lifting Money from Many Victims.

WHOLE CITY VICTIMIZED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CUMBERLAND, MD., June 29.—On a warrant sworn out by Thomas F. Smouse, a wealthy lumber merchant, Lizzie Mitchell, the black-eyed queen of a band of gypsies camped near here, languishes in jail on a charge of flim-flamming. She with eight other women swooped down upon the town yesterday, and hundreds of people are said to have been victimized.

Lizzie, who is said to be the leader of the band, is an expert in legerdemain. She would enter a store and ask the proprietor to tie a string in a knot, and then close his hand upon it. After Lizzie "said some words" he was to open his hand and if the knot was still there, his enemies would triumph, otherwise he would triumph. In every instance the knots disappeared.

That trick paved the way for Lizzie to ask for a five-dollar-bill, in order to further display her powers. She would take the money, seemingly tear it to pieces, then restore the bill again, and pretending to put it under her victim's waistband, would bow herself out with the admonition not to remove the money for some minutes.

After she would leave it would be discovered that the money had disappeared. The woman made no pretensions at fortune telling. They are "enemy destroyers," and "good luck bringers." It is estimated that 1,000 people were worked for small sums during the day.

The State Treasurer Saves Only One of His Men at the Clearfield County Primaries.

CLEARFIELD, PA., June 29.—(Special.)—Most of the returns from the Republican primary election yesterday are in and indicate the almost complete defeat of the ticket backed by State Treasurer Harris. He saves only one man on the slate, who was opposed by the McQuown or Quay faction, F. B. Scofield, for assembly.

W. C. Arnold defeated G. A. Lukenbart for congress. A. E. Patton was nominated for the senate, and Harry Boulton and F. B. Scofield, for assembly.

WINNING SCOTCH MARKET.

American Tools Conquer the Prejudice Against Them.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 29.—American trade in Scotland has been established on a sound basis, according to an extract from "Commercial Relations for 1901," now in press, which was made public at the state department today by Frederic Emory, chief of the bureau of foreign commerce.

Consul Rufus Fleming of Edinburgh says our tools, both hand and machine, are in high favor. The demand for our machine tools is increasing. The contention once urged by Sheffield firms, that our machine tools lack durability, is no longer heard. American tools have won on their merits, at prices lower than the English but above the German.

NO FRENCH DISMAY OVER THE RENEWAL OF THE DREIBUND

Paris Press Considers Franco-Russian Alliance as a Counterpoise.

TARIFF WAR LIKELY TO WEAKEN THE TIES

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PARIS, June 29.—The French press hails the renewal of the triple alliance between Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy, which was effected by the signing of a treaty in Berlin yesterday morning by the imperial chancellor of Germany, Count von Buelow, and the Austrian and Italian ambassadors to Germany, with considerable equanimity, and expresses the belief that the strength of the alliance has been much enfeebled by dissension with regard to tariff questions and a better understanding between Italy and France. The press considers, moreover, that the existence of a Franco-Russian alliance deprives the triple alliance of its originally aggressive character. The Temps says:

"A tariff war is about to graft itself on this political alliance, and the future will teach us how far an economic war is compatible with diplomatic understanding. Recent developments have singularly modified, if not the cordiality and intimacy between the powers of the triple alliance, at least the efficiency and practical value of the league."

Le Journal des Debats is convinced that the new alliance will not be the same as the old one, either in spirit or letter, and recalls the declaration of Signor Prinetti, the Italian minister of foreign affairs, in the Italian chamber of deputies, that "no military or diplomatic conventions will be appended to the new treaty." This paper concludes by saying:

"The triple alliance has been renewed under unfavorable conditions, and these should be taken into account, not only in considering its present renewal, but with regard to the prospects of a further renewal of the alliance later."

MAJOR GARDENER RECANTS CHARGES

Admits in Court He Paid Too Much Attention to Filipino Addresses.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

MANILA, June 29.—The board which is inquiring into the charges of cruelty brought by Maj. Cornelius Gardener, governor of the province of Tayabas, against American officers and soldiers, held a session today.

The recorder objected to the admission as evidence of addresses from Filipinos, on the grounds that these were buncombe. The Filipinos, said the recorder, are designing and past masters in the art of affidavits and addresses, and the board had allowed the affidavits presented by Maj. Gardener, but refused to receive more.

Maj. Gardener, continuing his testimony, said he had considered his original report to be strictly confidential and for Secretary of War Root, and that since he wrote this report and during the present investigation, he had heard testimony which he presumed to be true, and which had he heard before, might have caused him materially to change his report. Regarding the alleged cases of outrages committed by five soldiers, Maj. Gardener said he did not desire to bring these cases before the board, and that they probably were not true, although he had made his report in good faith.

It is announced that the club found nothing questionable in their behavior and that no proof of a combination on their part against the English riders was discovered.

FOREIGN CONSULS EXPOSED TO FIRE OF HAITIEN SHIPS

Admiral Killick's Vessels Bombard Town Without Giving Proper Notice.

A DAY OF FIGHTING AT CAPE HAITIEN

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CAPE HAITIEN, HAITI, June 29.—There has been much fighting here today and great excitement prevails. Admiral Killick, commander of the Haitien fleet, disembarked a further detachment of troops and a large quantity of ammunition at 4 o'clock this morning for the better protection of General Firmin, one of the candidates for the presidency of the republic.

Since 6 o'clock this morning there have been several lively engagements between the men from the fleet and the revolutionists from the north. Several machine guns were set up in a commanding position by General Firmin's forces and an attempt was made to drive the men from the north from their position. Notwithstanding the fire from the machine guns, detachments of northern revolutionists made several attacks on General Firmin's followers, who eventually were dislodged.

In the meantime the vessels under the command of Admiral Killick were bombarding Cape Haitien. This action was taken without previous notification to the foreign consuls here. There has been a lively rain of shots down the streets of Cape Haitien all day long.

At the moment of filing this dispatch, the foreign consuls, under the protection of their various flags, are with General Firmin and are about to embark on the government gunboat Crete-a-Pierot. They are under a rather heavy fire and in considerable danger. The foreign residents of this port are at present exposed to the lawlessness and savagery of the combatants. Deep regret is expressed that no warship of a foreign power is in the harbor to afford protection to foreign residents, and as this dispatch is sent the firing in the streets continues.

BEATING BRIDGEMEN'S UNION.

Contractor Braun Is Keeping Work Going on Union Station Trainshed.

Andy Braun, contractor on the Union station trainshed for the Pennsylvania railroad, is beating the persistent efforts of the officers of the Bridge and Structural Iron Workers to stop the work. The falsework has been erected for the second arch of the shed, a force of about 30 structural workers being engaged. Within 10 days the officers of the union of the men have drawn about 65 men off the work. Others were secured.

The bridge workers' union has re-elected its old officers, including Business Agents George Boyd and William Tobin, who were instrumental in securing an advance of 7½ cents an hour, for all the men through the settlement with the American Bridge Company.

Oil Developments

Developments in the lower southwest fields during the past week brought some encouragement to operators who have been searching earnestly and eagerly for new pools. However, the feature of most importance to producer and operator alike, was the two-cent advance in the credit balance market for Pennsylvania crude. The quotation had remained at $1 20 for more than two months in the face of the great depletion of stocks from month to month, so that the advance did not come as a surprise to the eastern producer. Then to emphasize argument that better prices should prevail was the utter failure that had followed explorations in all territory to discover new pools of sufficient magnitude to supply the decline in the old fields or make good the heavy drain on the stocks in storage.

In Ritchie county, West Virginia, two new discoveries were made and presage the advent of two new Keener sand pools. The first was made early in the week and is located on the T. E. Dye farm, two miles west of the Bonds Creek pump station in Clay district. It is owned by Smith, Spence & Co. and is good for 50 barrels a day. It is expected to increase its production when drilled deeper.

Expected to Improve.

The other strike is located near the Pleasant-Ritchie county line in the last-named county and one and one-half miles northeast of the old development on Rock run and one mile west of the newer development on Big Knot run in the same district. This well placed 150 barrels to its credit the first 24 hours after it was drilled into the pay streak, and is expected to improve its production when drilled deeper. It is owned by the Three Joes Oil Company, Pittsburgh parties.

This test is located in what was previously regarded as gas territory and has been so looked upon since the development of the old Whisky run pool, when an effort was made to carry the producing lines into this territory. The initial production of some of the Keener sand wells in Clay district have been large, but they declined rapidly, and when shot never failed to respond. After they have settled down to about 20-barrel pumpers they show excellent staying qualities.

Both of the new Gordon sand developments in Wetzel county made some advancement during the week and both are certain to become factors in furnishing new production. It is deep sand territory and operations will not be pushed with the same vigor that marks developments in the shallow sand. In the Folsom district the South Penn Oil Company is starting a large amount of work. On the east side of the development Miller Bros. drilled in a test well on the A. E. Tarkington farm and got a producer rated at better than 300 barrels a day. In this stretch of Gordon sand territory, running northeast and southwest for a distance of more than four miles, there are more than 40 wells starting and drilling. It requires from 45 to 60 days to complete a well in this territory.

The District Expanding.

The new Gordon sand district in the vicinity of Littleton, Wetzel county, is expanded to the northeast and southwest on a 45-degree line and is now tested for a distance of more than five miles with good wells at both extreme ends. During the week the South Penn completed and shot its test well on the O'Day farm and secured a 100-barrel producer. Along this line and still farther southwest of the O'Day well the Philadelphia Company has good producers on the Parks and Haynes farms and Brast & Co. have a good well on the Pettit farm. The new big Injun sand pool north of Center Point, Doddridge county, is still a matter of conjecture as to what will be its status in the future.

Holders of old territory in Marion and Monongalia counties are drilling a number of old Big Injun sand wells to the lower sands and securing small producers in the fifth formation. Good gas has also been found in this level and this will be an incentive for drilling the old wells down.

Southeastern Ohio.

Operations in southeastern Ohio are increasing. In and to the southwest of the new Keener sand pool, in Monroe county, there is considerable activity. During the week the Ohio Oil Company developed a new feature as its test well on the Easton farm, located to the northeast of the Harper producer. When it drilled into the Big Lime a good show of oil was encountered and it will make a paying producer from that level. Two miles north of the Harper pool, in Belmont county, the Ann Oil Company drilled its test well on the Doudna farm through the Keener sand and got a duster. This well was drilled with a view of finding northern extension to the Harper pool in Monroe county.

Near Rinards Mills, Washington county, is a new Big Injun sand development that is attracting some attention. The Carter Oil Company has good producers on the Cline and Sears farms. McFadden, Twitchell & Co. are due in the sand with a test on the Miracle farm. Should this well come in a good producer it will show a northeast extension to the pool.

Near Germantown, in this county, operators are having good success in the 500-foot level. It is shallow territory and the wells range all the way from dusters to 150-barrel producers.

MAY FIGHT THE CITIZENS IN THE LOCAL COURTS

Machine Will Probably Seek to Prevent Indorsement of Pennypacker.

EFFECT OF A NEW LAW

According to an Act of the Last Legislature It Is Not Necessary to Take Such Cases to the Dauphin County Court.

When the Citizens party indorses the candidacy of Samuel W. Pennypacker, the Republican nominee for governor, the machine will probably begin a legal battle in the local courts. Under a recent act it is not necessary to carry the case into the Dauphin county courts.

One of the last acts of the legislature of 1901 was to pass this bill, which received executive approval July 10, 1901: "That the courts of common pleas of the several counties of this commonwealth are hereby clothed with jurisdiction in all cases in which the commonwealth is a party. Provided, that nothing in this act shall be construed to apply to tax cases to which the commonwealth is a party."

Prior to the enactment of this law it was necessary to carry all disputes over state affairs into the Dauphin courts for adjudication. Now if there is a controversy over a nomination the local courts can hear and determine the matter. Of course, the Dauphin courts still have the same jurisdiction.

Stone Makes a Suggestion.

During Governor William A. Stone's recent visit to Pittsburgh he is said to have called the new act to the attention of some of his machine friends while discussing the probable indorsement of Pennypacker by the Citizens. In the event of a contest this route will probably be chosen. It is preferred to the Dauphin courts because the judges there have already decided the question and for other reasons.

The machine is in somewhat of a quandry as to what to do in case Pennypacker is indorsed by the Citizens. The leaders of the old organization realize that if the Citizens can place the Republican state ticket at the head of their county candidates, many votes will be captured. At the same time they are in doubt whether it is politic to endeavor to prevent the state candidate from accepting this indorsement. Some are in favor of seeking relief in the courts and others believe that a more profitable plan would be to make a deal with the Democrats to support Pattison in return for votes for the county and legislative tickets. They think that the latter arrangement could be made.

How the Machine Figures.

Regardless of a deal or whether the Citizens indorse Pennypacker, the machine is figuring that it will receive at least 12,000 Democratic votes for its county ticket. This is the portion of the minority party that the old organization claims to control. It is expected that this number can be increased owing to alleged dissatisfaction among Democrats over the make-up of the fusion ticket. It is the work of every machine man these days to stir up trouble. Orders have gone out to do everything possible to prevent harmony in the Democratic convention that is supposed to ratify the fusion ticket.

In the Democratic primaries of Saturday the machine leaders in various wards of the city quietly mixed in the primaries. Their platform was trouble. Their purpose was to help elect delegates who would insist upon the Democrats being given a lion's share of the offices.

Victory for Fusion.

The indications are that the ticket agreed upon by the Citizen and Democratic conferees will be ratified at the Democratic county convention to be held in old City hall at noon Wednesday. The gathering will be presided over by George S. Fleming. The one fight in the Democratic primaries of Saturday was against the renomination of James A. Clark as county commissioner. Last night Clark claimed that he and his friends would be in control of the convention and the fusion ticket would be indorsed.

The only spot in the county where it is probable that Clark will lose is in the Seventh district. There Dr. W. E. Johnston, a candidate for commissioner, made a fight. He says that he will control the convention in his district and elect three delegates to the county convention in opposition to Clark.

The Claims of Clark.

Clark is claiming the entire 39 delegates to the county convention. While this may be a trifle strong, there is not much doubt about his having a good safe working majority in the gathering. With him in the contest were the 10 members of the Democratic conference committee and they are strong enough to control the situation. It is difficult to see how the fusion plans can be overthrown.

Clark says that he will secure the six votes in the First and Second districts without a contest. In the Third, he claims that he has elected all but two of the district delegates. This will give him a total of nine. There is no dispute in the Fourth, making the total 12. He says his opponents were able to elect only two delegates in the Fifth. This being the case he makes his holdings 24. In the Sixth, he claims to have won all but 15 of the 112, in the Seventh 60 out of 80 and the same in the Eighth. This would give him the entire 39 delegates in the county convention.

Sweeney Looks Like a Winner.

County Chairman Thomas Alcorn last night announced that he had appointed George S. Fleming to preside over the Fourth legislative district convention. This would indicate that John J. Sweeney would win the nomination for assembly over W. J. Ryan. The convention will be held tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the Ralston school. This puts the convention in a Ryan stronghold. A strong detail of police has been asked for to preserve order.

Alcorn has made these appointments of temporary officers for the other conventions which will be held tomorrow. First, John Voelker, common council chamber, Allegheny, 7:30 p. m.; Second, John Kane, select council chamber, Allegheny, 7:30 p. m.; Third, D. J. Boyle, select council chamber, Pittsburgh, 7:30 p. m.; Fifth, W. J. Brennen, common council chamber, Pittsburgh, 8 p. m.; Sixth, Casper Mayer, select council, Pittsburgh, 10 a. m.; Seventh, George A. Koehler, common council, Allegheny, 10 a. m.; Eighth, James E. O'Donnell, White opera house, McKeesport, 10 a. m.

LOCAL NEWS OF GREATER PITTSBURGH

Woman Found Dead in Bed—Mrs. Mary Campbell, wife of Robert Campbell of No. 305 Denniston avenue, was found dead in bed at 3 o'clock yesterday morning. Heart disease is supposed to be the cause. She was 56 years of age.

Name Was Omitted—By an oversight the name of Mary Griffiths was omitted from the list of successful candidates for admission to the Allegheny High school. She is a pupil of No. 1 school of the Eleventh ward and passed with a very good average.

For Stealing Waste—Jacob Miller, aged 15 years, of Larkins alley, and George Miller, aged 16 years, of No. 38 South Sixth street, were locked up in No. 7 police station yesterday as suspicious persons. It is alleged the boys stole waste from a car on the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston railroad, with which they built a fire to roast potatoes.

Just Went for a Ride—Luke Belt, 7 years old, of No. 3930 Ann street, who disappeared from his home Saturday morning, was taken from a passenger train on the Pennsylvania railroad at Altoona, Saturday night about 11 o'clock. He said that he had run away from home to take a ride on the railroad. He was brought to this city yesterday afternoon and his parents were notified.

McKenna Keeps Up Record—Magistrate McKenna kept up his speed record at Central station yesterday morning, hearing 120 cases in 110 minutes. Sixty-four prisoners were locked up over night there and 56 at No. 2 station, all of whom were tried at Central station. The prisoners who faced the magistrates at other police stations in the two cities, brought the total up to 198 for the day.

Raided the Speakeasies—Lieut. Edward M. Poland, with a squad of police, raided two alleged speakeasies yesterday and placed the occupants in the Oakland police station. At the house of William Jones at Brown station the proprietor and seven visitors were arrested and at the house of Mrs. Mary Mahon, 37 Beelen street, two visitors were captured. A quantity of liquor was found in each house.

Labor Watching an Ordinance—President William Boate of the United Labor League, with a committee including J. J. Zimmer of the electrical workers, J. J. Kane of the plumbers and Frank E. Smith of the painters, will attend the meeting of the Pittsburgh council today in the interest of the ordinance providing for the union rate of wages for all craftsmen employed by the city. The ordinance was introduced by John A. Murphy, member of select council from the Twentieth ward.

Fireman Fell to Death—E. J. Stormer, 20 years old, a fireman on the Pennsylvania railroad, of Pitcain, was found dead on the tracks at Braddock station yesterday morning at 3 o'clock. Stormer left the Pittsburgh yards on his engine early in the morning. His engineer was talking to him on the engine at Braddock station. After the train left this place Stormer was missing. It is supposed that Stormer fell off the engine when making a turn, just beyond Braddock station. His remains were taken to his home in Pitcairn. He was single.

Fire in a Restaurant—Fire in the building occupied by the Vienna restaurant at No. 536 Smithfield street did $200 damage last night. The restaurant is conducted by Simeon Heimbacher. A bar and restaurant occupy the first and second floors. The watchman of the building last night about 8:30 discovered a blaze in a combined light and air shaft in the rear of the building. An alarm was turned in from box No. 44 and the quick work of the firemen confined the flames to the shaft, which was almost consumed to the third floor.

To Fight Railroad—A meeting of property owners and residents along Welsh way was held Saturday night to protest against the proposed vacating of the street for the use of the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston railway. Adam Klinzing was elected chairman and John Blue secretary. A committee of five was appointed to confer with the councilmanic committee on surveys and work to prevent the closing of this and other streets. The following are members of the committee: Frank Schlott, chairman; John Laveile, secretary; Adam Klinzing, John Ulinski and Andrew Both.

Fire in a Cable Box—An alarm of fire was turned in from box 74 at 9:50 last night for a fire in a cable box of the Western Union Telegraph Company on a pole at Fourth avenue and Grant street. The firemen found the insulation burning in the box, caused by crossed wires, which was extinguished by using chemicals. The Western Union was notified and their men labored for about two hours repairing the damage. The lines belonged to its out-of-town service, which was tied up for that length of time. A similar fire occurred an hour earlier at Fourth and Ross streets.

Church Was Dedicated—The First Methodist Episcopal church of McKeesport, located on Bridge street, was dedicated yesterday, with only a fair attendance, due to bad weather. The church was recently erected at a cost of $3,000, the pastor being the Rev. A. Vogel. The dedicatory address in the afternoon was delivered by the Rev. F. W. Schneider of the National Theological seminary of Berea, O., and the Rev. Vogel also made an address. In the evening the sermon was preached by the Rev. J. H. Holtkamp, a former pastor. The evening services were attended by a large crowd. The congregation is 15 years old.

Prospects for the Picnic—The managers of the big picnic for the benefit of St. Paul's Orphan Asylum met again last night at the cathedral. Father M. Lynch, the secretary and treasurer, reported that the financial outlook justified the hope that this will be more than a $15,000 picnic. The sales of tickets are ahead of any previous year at the same period and the checks that are coming in direct are larger and more numerous than last year. Quite a number of the best known men of the city have sent in checks to aid the picnic fund and have said in their letters that they mean to visit Calhoun on one of the two picnic days. The committees are gradually getting down to work and the details of the picnic will be shaped before the end of this week. Nearly every parish in the county is helping and in every respect the prospects are most encouraging.

Impossible to Predict Conditions on the Local Rivers.

From accounts of the weather conditions in the upper Monongahela and Allegheny valleys it is not certain that there will be barge water in the Monongahela and Ohio rivers today. At the weather bureau it was said that there might be a barge water stage, but there was nothing certain about it.

Twenty-five barges got out of the harbor yesterday, taken down by the Nellie Walton, B. D. Wood, Dave Wood and Stella Moren. If a barge stage of water should turn up on this rise, 10,000,000 bushels of coal will go to down river ports.

TWELVE PAGES

June's Weather Record.

To the casual observer of weather variations the month of June has presented a rather odd and conglomerate record, but according to the opinion of expert weather observers the month has been singular in its weather by reason of the fact that we have enjoyed the first normal June in ten years. When this statement is made the weather men have in mind the averages of a number of years, and by these a balance is struck that gives the June which is ready to go out so damply and gustily the proud distinction of being normal. According to unexpert testimony the month has been a freak. One or two very warm days when the thermometer registered in the 90's are the only reminders to people in this latitude that real summer is supposed to be doing business per calendar arrangement. There have been days when light wraps and steam heat were required to make life tolerable, while the recurring storm waves from out of the west or north have kept us deluged with chilling rain or beaten upon by fierce winds that resembled November in their bleakness. As if bent upon fastening upon us the memory of her chilly conduct the month is closing with a raw and chilly gust from out the west, where it assumed the shape of devastating storms and in Chicago on Saturday a mild snowstorm.

It is only on rare occasions that the northwestern storm area succeeds in holding summer so long at bay in this section. The partial success this year of the attempt has not been without its compensations, however, for June gave the dwellers in this latitude and along the Atlantic seaboard some rarely beautiful weather with all her eccentricities. The invasion of summer with the ides of July may be severe enough despite its long delay.

A New Fuel.

A Cleveland genius has discovered a means of making an inflammable gas from the air we breathe. At least, such is the news sent out from the Forest City, upon the credit of certain wealthy men who have taken stock in the enterprise. According to the advance notices the new process will revolutionize power-making and put the coal companies out of business.

We will not undertake to say the Cleveland man has not made an important discovery. It is an age of mechanical and chemical wonders. But the opinion may be ventured that at this time next year the new process will not have freed Pittsburgh of the smoke nuisance, or converted Alaska into a warm country for winter residence. It is possible that some chemical substance, combined with elements of the atmosphere, may make a cheap fuel; but it is not probable that any common, easily obtained substance will excel coal for that purpose.

An Instructive Case.

In disapproving the contracts for the erection of the new Westmoreland county court house the court undoubtedly followed the law, as it followed the verdict of the people. The reason assigned for disapproval, the court being unanimous, was that the bid accepted by the commissioners was not the lowest received from a responsible bidder.

This is an instructive case in its abstract application to public contracts in general. The central fact was stated by the court. The accepted bid was not the lowest. Controller Brown refused to indorse the award, which he declared was against public policy. The term of the county commissioners who awarded the contract will expire this year. All three were candidates for renomination, but two were defeated at the primaries. The third succeeded in getting a renomination, but if elected in November will hardly have any support from his colleagues in this particular matter. The effect is to keep the court and county officers in temporary quarters much longer than had been expected, exposing valuable records to the danger of destruction, yet the people of the county are satisfied because of the ultimate prospect for obtaining a modern county building at reasonable cost. The example is one of the power of popular right when aroused.

The Record of Congress.

With a Sunday session of the house, congress is rushing to an adjournment this week. The date has not been fixed, but Tuesday, or Wednesday at the farthest, are the scheduled days in popular opinion. At any rate adjournment is near enough for the work of summing up the first session of this congress. The record is sadly marred by the failure to pass the Cuban reciprocity bill, the work of a disreputable minority in the senate. Aside from this a very creditable amount of work has been accomplished.

On the credit side there are the isthmian canal bill, the consummation of the dreams and efforts of more than half a century; the Philippine islands civil government bill, not yet quite perfected; the repeal of the war taxes, the largest single reduction of revenues in the history of the government; the establishment of a permanent census bureau; the adoption of a fair irrigation scheme for the arid southwest; extension of the Chinese exclusion act and the relief of volcano sufferers in St. Vincent and Martinique.

Among the important measures that go over to the short session in an advanced state are the bill for the suppression of anarchy and the better protection of government officials; the bill for the further and better restriction of immigration; the act creating a department of commerce with a cabinet officer at its head; the provision for an Appalachian forest reserve of 4,000,000 acres, and the bill to admit three territories to statehood. The most important measure defeated during the session was that promoting the Pacific cable.

Of the appropriations made it can be said they will aggregate nearly a billion dollars—the greater part for entirely commendable purposes. The isthmian canal accounts for $50,000,000. Some fault can be found with items in the omnibus public buildings bill and the river and harbor bill, but the principal sums in both are worthily bestowed. Other large sums go to the army and navy, necessary for their proper maintenance. As a whole the appropriation record is creditable.

There is but the one serious blot upon the session, the failure to pass the Cuban reciprocity bill. The responsibility for that cannot be attached to the Republican party. President Roosevelt exerted his influence in favor of the measure and the Republican leaders in house and senate were heartily in accord with him. Unfortunately there were Republican senators in the disgraceful minority, under the leadership of Teller of Colorado, who effected the defeat of the bill by preventing a vote. The odium falls upon neither party, but upon the obstructionists individually and upon the senate as a whole for adhering to a system that permits a minority to balk the will of the majority.

Dewey's Testimony.

Reviewed as a whole the testimony of Admiral Dewey before the senate committee on the Philippines, concluded on Saturday, clears away much that has been imperfectly understood concerning the early American occupancy of those islands. In frankly recounting his experiences the admiral has not sought to color the incidents in which he was a chief actor to his own advantage, his evidence at times indicating his belief that he erred at important points. With the facts before it, as related by Dewey himself, the country is in a position to form a just estimate of the causes of complications that have arisen in the islands, and may judge how far the claims made by the friends of the insurgents and their quondam leader, Aguinaldo, are true as to that alleged patriot's participation in the victory of the American forces at Manila. It is evident from what Admiral Dewey says that Aguinaldo was foisted upon him through the mistaken zeal of some of the American diplomats at Kongkong. These blunders led to complications, with the vanity and greed of Aguinaldo, that serve to dim the glory of American diplomatic achievement.

The country owes a debt of gratitude, however, to Admiral Dewey for the blunt and effective way in which he has torn the mask from Aguinaldo. Bluff old American sea fighter that he was, the admiral took no stock in the Aguinaldo pretensions, and if he had his way we have no doubt the glorification of the treacherous little Filipino that has so sorely tried the patience of Americans would never have been possible.

Canals and Railroads.

Anent the practical settlement of the isthmian canal question, the prospect for early construction and the reputed opposition of the railroads to the project, S. A. Thompson has an interesting article in the July Engineering Magazine. His proposition is that wherever canals have been built they have benefited the railroads. In proof of his statement Mr. Thompson marshals an overwhelming array of facts drawn from experience. These are found both at home and abroad, Germany's canals and canalized rivers furnishing examples as convincing as St. Marys Falls.

There is nothing paradoxical in this demonstration. It is in conformity with the highest commercial axiom, that trade follows the lines of least resistance. The cheapest of all means of transportation is navigable water. Commerce always has and always will seek the lines of natural waterways and of artificial waterways in every case where the cost of construction is not prohibitive of successful operation. But waterways have their limitations. Certain classes of traffic do not demand mere cheapness. These naturally go by rail. Sometimes waterways are closed by stress of weather; the railroads must keep the lines open. Inevitably there is such development along the favorable lines that more than the capacity of the waterways is needed to care for the wants of great cities or communities.

It can be hardly doubted the opening of the Panama canal will so stimulate commerce between the Atlantic and Pacific as to bring decided benefit to the transcontinental railroads. Those railroads ought to be among the most ardent supporters of the canal idea.

Semblance Apparent, Not Real.

Much has been said about the analogy between the cases of King Edward and the late President McKinley. To the surgeon the resemblance is not real. President McKinley suffered from a gunshot wound in the upper left abdominal region, with its attendant shock, before the surgical wound was inflicted. He was a man of bilious, lymphatic temperament, only slightly better than the purely lymphatic from the doctor's point of view. King Edward suffered no shock prior to the surgical wound in the lower right abdominal region, the incision alone being similar to that in President McKinley's case. The king is of sanguine nervous temperament, a primary condition favorable to recovery from wounds. True, King Edward's health has been in bad state for some time, while President McKinley had not been a sufferer from any particular malady. On this score the king's chances would appear to be less, but medical men are well aware that invalids frequently have more latent resources for recovery from mechanical injuries than persons who appear to be in good health.

It cannot be said with certainty that King Edward is out of danger, but he is truly convalescing. The pain that gives him occasional "discomfort," according to the dispatches, is one of the surest indications that gangrene has not set in as in President McKinley's wound. The heart action, too, is indicative of healthy granulation. At this stage, then, it may be said the king's chief danger is a recurrence of the original malady that necessitated the surgical operation, rather than any untoward development in the wound.

A Slip of the Tongue.

John Burns, labor advocate, London county councillor, whilom member of parliament and general oracle, has run afoul of J. Pierpont Morgan, financier. Mr. Burns does not like Mr. Morgan and has attempted to say so, but chose an unfortunate simile for the purpose. He denominates Mr. Morgan as the "Barnum of the financial world." Mr. Morgan, himself, could hardly expect to be a more brilliant success in his chosen field than Phineas T. Barnum was in his.

No doubt Mr. Burns meant something different from this conclusion. He probably meant to intimate that Mr. Morgan is a financial showman, or possibly that he practices upon the Barnum precept that the people like to be humbugged. Even so his choice of language is unfortunate, indicating a confusion of thought, for his more specific declarations do not accord with an accurate conception of the Barnum character.

It is to be feared that John Burns has simply fallen into the same error other Englishmen have committed, that of believing that abuse of American methods might check American encroachments upon English trade. It is a serious error. American supremacy is not based upon anything so fragile that abuse can damage it. If Mr. Morgan is really the showman of the financial world he has, as Barnum had, "the greatest show on earth." He needs not to advertise anything that he cannot exhibit.

A Cincinnati clergyman has advanced the theory that heaven will be on this earth at the end of the present administration of affairs. He does not explain what will become of his present place of residence.

Possibly the machine obstructionists may point to the deserted appearance of the parks, yesterday, as justification for their dilatoriness about providing shelter houses and conveniences.

Weather predicting is too uncertain a business to justify advice about overcoats on the Fourth of July, but the actualities warrant the fear that they may be necessary to comfort.

A careful review of the congressional session brings the conviction that fully one-half the time was wasted by the Democrats in a vain effort to make partisan capital.

We have no doubt but what Sir Thomas Lipton would much rather catch up with the America's cup than be allowed to have baronet added to his name.

The picture departments of the society papers have to be content with publishing portraits of how the ladies would have looked at the coronation.

Improvement in King Edward's condition has the happy effect of stopping the manufacture of gypsy predictions and superstitious omens.

According to Admiral Dewey, Aguinaldo's resemblance to George Washington did not run as far back as that cherry tree incident.

Father Pitt feels quite equal to the task of showing the rest of the world how to celebrate the nation's birthday this week.

Those superstitious people who believe in the Pattison luck forget that the popular modern phrase is "Three strikes and out."

Transformation Wrought by the Half Holiday

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, June 29.

How different the business part of New York looks on Saturday afternoon from what it was only two weeks ago, was the subject of comment yesterday. The summer Saturday half-holiday, which was begun for the season last Saturday, became general yesterday. The down-town streets, which all winter have been crowded with heavy wagons and noisy with the profanity of many truck-drivers, were yesterday afternoon silent and deserted, save for the hysterical yawping of a horse-car driver now and then, or the labored breathing of some belated commuter trying to "make" his ferryboat to Jersey or Staten island. The commission warehouses were all closed. The policemen on post walked mournfully to and fro, with none of their regular acquaintances to exchange a pleasant word with them, and not even a push cart at hand from which they might take the bunch of cherries or half-dozen peanuts without paying, always recognized as the policeman's special privilege. The only sign of activity was on the part of people going down to the excursion boat piers to hurry over to Coney island or Manhattan beach. Brooklyn bridge had its rush early in the day and was comparatively quiet after the holiday-making Brooklynites had made their way across to get home to their mid-day meal—"luncheon" or "dinner," according to their standing in society. In the late afternoon, from 4:30 to 6:30, when ordinarily the bridge entrance in Park row is a howling chaos, one could walk to the cars as calmly as at 11 o'clock in the forenoon. It is a good thing for this city that we have these weekly vacations. It gives the white wings time for a thoroughly good cleanup of the streets, allows the worried business man to devote a few quiet hours to his books, and lets the machinery of business generally get cooled off. In addition to these advantages, there is the great one of permitting several hundred thousands of work people of all grades to have a half day for recreation amid rural surroundings, or while breathing the invigorating air of the seashore. That this advantage is appreciated, one can see plainly enough if one will watch the faces of the shoals of men and women pouring out of the big manufacturing and mercantile establishments all along Broadway and the shopping avenues from Wall street to Madison square.

Shoppers Change Their Habits.

It is almost marvelous that shoppers lend themselves so easily to the conditions produced by the Saturday half-holiday here. Before it became the regular thing, women declared that Saturday afternoon was the best time of the whole week for a shopping expedition. The bare idea of their favorite drygoods stores being closed on Saturday afternoons seemed to them to be absurd. But they have got over that now, and they accept the closing of the stores as the proper thing, which they would not have changed if they could. Sticklers for the strict enforcement of the excise law are quoting the Saturday half-holiday movement as a proof that it would be possible to stop the sale of all intoxicating liquors on Sunday without causing hardship to anyone. There may be a parallel, but the free-and-easy New Yorker who enjoys his Sunday pleasures will not allow that it would be desirable to stem the flow of beer, whisky and wine on Sundays, even if it could be done. Incidentally, it may be mentioned that this was anything but a "dry" Sunday in New York. I do not mean to say that there were many flagrant or flaunting defiances of the law, but that if one knew even one twist of the ropes he could slip modestly through a side doorway in thousands of places in the city, and get all the refreshment he needed, or thought he needed.

All Weather Alike to Coney.

Coney island had another big day. Weather makes little difference to the crowds that attend old Coney on Sunday. It is rain cats and dogs, and there will always be hundreds of thousands of visitors to the "island" on the great rest day of the week. The day when this resort depended on fine weather for its visitors passed long ago. All the amusements, except the Atlantic ocean, are roofed in, and who goes to Coney island on Sunday for the sake of the sea? The merry-go-rounds, shoot-the-chutes, loop-the-loops and other exercises are in full swing, whether it rains or not. So, when the official weather forecaster said yesterday that it might rain today—and rain it did—the people who had made up their mind to go to Coney island went anyhow, in boats, trolleys and trains, as it suited them. They hardly cared whether it were raining or not. Coney Island is a law unto itself.

East Liverpool Folk Going Abroad.

Among the fleet of ocean liners that always leaves this port on Saturday was the Umbria yesterday morning. East Liverpool (O.), furnished a few passengers, namely: Mr. and Mrs. William Burgess, Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Poole and their young son, Allan Poole.

Anarchist McQueen Gets Taste of Law.

McQueen, the socialist editor of the paper La Questione Sociale, published in Paterson, N. J., who is charged with inciting riot in that city, will be sent there for trial. Gov. Odell yesterday granted the requisition of Gov. Murphy of New Jersey for the surrender of the editor, and he will get a taste of New Jersey justice, instead of being compelled only to face the brand dispensed in New York, which is altogether too uncertain to satisfy the indignant people of Paterson. New York city does not like anarchists any more than does New Jersey, but there are so many loose meshes in the law here, that, with a shrewd lawyer, even a rioter of anarchistic proclivities might escape. That is the argument in Paterson, and McQueen will be welcomed back tomorrow with an earnestness which hardly will give him pleasure.

Healing Rapid Transit Wounds.

Take a ride uptown nowadays and you are astonished at the rapid progress making on the subway work. Along the avenues which have been torn up for more than a year, there is steady labor going on closing up the hole, and before the summer is over very little of the operations will be on view in the city except a long way up town. That the Rapid Transit railway under Manhattan will be ready for opening in the fall of next year, is generally believed. In fact, there is nothing likely to intervene, so far as can be seen now. One of the points where the patching up of the roadway is most satisfactory, is at the circle at Fifty-ninth street and Eighth avenue, where is to be one of the largest stations on the road. There has been so much confusion there for so long, that people hardly know what to think of the smooth asphalt and level sidewalks which have at last hidden the mighty work underground. Long Acre square, another place which has been badly torn up, is still in practically the same condition, although the contractors promise an improvement before many weeks have passed. Take it all in all, the big contract is being carried out with marvelous dispatch and, now that the work is more than half done, New Yorkers are disposed to admit this fact.

Robbed for Sweet Charity's Sake.

The New York society women who conducted the "gymkhana" at Hill Crest, the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Trevor L. Park, near White Plains, yesterday, are not deficient in that quality which in professional amusement circles is known as "faking." There was a tent in which a lot of prominent women, including the Iselins, Kanes, Potters, Tiffanys and so on, sold lemonade, iced tea and other beverages at enormous prices; but before one could go inside to buy drinks he had to pay 25 cents for the privilege of peeping into the tent. Only that the object to be served was a good one prevented the assertion of some of the victims that they had been downright robbed. But everything goes in the name of charity, of course. The proceeds of the "gymkhana" shall go to the Stony Wall sanitarium. All society was at the entertainment and the sanitarium made a good thing of it.

Sensation Feast in Store.

It should be a relief to those who have been worrying themselves over what some of the papers here call the "Good Ground mystery," that the man, Louis Disbrow, who is suspected of having murdered Dimple Lawrence and Clarence Foster, is to be examined before a magistrate on Tuesday, specifically charged with murder. His attorney says he can have him in court by that time, and perhaps the sensation mongers are on the eve of another feast of crime and scandal, with the usual unwholesome trimmings.

Cleveland May Take the Stump.

Grover Cleveland refused to deliver a "long talk" in the wigwam of Tammany hall on the Fourth of July, but may take the center of the stage and the "spot light" in the forthcoming political campaign. Grover is easily the greatest Democratic figure in New York, and he can make a forcible and pointed speech when he braces himself up to do it. It is reported that he has offered to do anything in his power for the Democratic party, and the understanding is that he will be heard on the stump this fall.

The President's Yacht.

There was much pleasant excitement at the Brooklyn navy yard yesterday when President Roosevelt's yacht, the Mayflower, went into commission. She has gone to Washington, where she will await the pleasure of the chief executive. The craft belongs to the government, having been purchased at the outbreak of the Spanish war from the Goelet estate. She is the most elaborately equipped vessel flying the stars and stripes. President Roosevelt is a connoisseur in ships, as he is in everything else that partakes of out-doors, and the Mayflower, no doubt, will have a strenuous summer of it.

Three Fine Positions Vacant.

Now comes a scramble for seats on the bench of magistrates' courts in New York. Three vacancies will occur in the board of city magistrates at midnight tomorrow and Mayor Low has the duty of filling them. There are a number of able men who would like to be magistrates. The salary is $7,000 a year, with three months' vacation in the course of the year, and not such very hard work even when one is filling his duties. No wonder there is a lot of angling for the jobs. Mayor Low has not given any intimation what he will do—whether he will reappoint the three men whose terms expire after tomorrow, whether he will pick out some of the eminent lawyers who are candidates, or whether he will allow political motives to sway him. The general impression is that he will appoint men whom he considers fittest for the positions, regardless of the influence of politicians or personal friends. Mayor Low is a good-humored man, but the hangers-on of City hall have found that he can say "no," and mean it, as well as the best of them, even if less offensively than was the manner of his immediate predecessor.

Coney's New Park.

Coney Island park will be opened with elaborate ceremonies on Tuesday. This is the park down by the shore which the city has been improving and beautifying all summer at an expense of $30,000. There has been a park at Coney Island since 1875, owned by the city, but it is only now that it has been brought into such condition as to make it actually such a pleasure ground as was intended from the first. In the dedication of the new park the Municipal Art society will take a prominent part. Calvin Tompkins, chairman of the committee on parks, has received a communication from former Mayor Abram S. Hewitt, and it is probable that Mr. Hewitt will be present. Commissioner Young will turn the park over to President Swanstrom of Brooklyn, and he, in turn, will present it to Mayor Low.

A Four-Million-Dollar Hotel.

One of the finest hotels in New York city is to be built at the corner of Fifty-fifth street and Fifth avenue, judging by the estimates and plans filed yesterday. The plot is 100.5x125 feet, which cost $1,250,000 not long ago. The cost of the edifice, which will be 18 stories in height, will be $2,500,000, which will bring the total expense of site and building to nearly $4,000,000.

Paterson's New Era.

Paterson, N. J., has had its own troubles of late, with fire, flood and riot, but it intends to begin afresh tomorrow morning. With the faces of all good citizens dead set against the anarchists; with a reorganized police force, determined to suppress the preachers of murder and fire and disorder, backed by the decent working people of the city and by a vigilance committee of the richest and best business men, and with peace between capital and labor signed and sealed, a new era of prosperity is hoped for in the sorely-beset municipality at the falls of the Passaic. Three of Paterson's silk mills go back to work—the ribbon workers, the loom fixers and twisters, and the horizontal warpers. Seven of the dyers' shops will return to work on Monday, and the others will follow just as soon as the bosses have set their affairs in order.

THE MAN UP A TREE

From a High Viewpoint.

THE great republic may be ungrateful or slow to recognize the services of its friends, but there can be no doubt of its generosity to its foes.

The legislative mill at Washington is grinding rapidly.

King Edward is making a right royal fight for his life.

The ameer of Afghanistan married five wives the other day, but it is not everybody who can become a June bridegroom on this lavish scale.

Admiral Dewey has painted an extremely unattractive portrait of Aguinaldo.

Messrs. Cleveland, Hill, Bryan and Watterson are wasting a great deal of time with their advice to each other, and to the Democratic party.

Those eight congressmen who voted against the isthmian canal bill must have felt lonely.

Alfred Austin has not yet had the grace to apologize for that coronation poem.

Making the editor of Punch a knight was a bright joke of King Edward's.

William Waldorf Astor was overlooked in the coronation honors, but the United States refuses to be sad over the omission.

The amnesty proclamation will not include the bolomen in congress and in Boston.

A Hearty Welcome.

"Gentlemen," remarks Father Pitt to the delegates to the annual convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, "make yourselves at home! The town is yours!"

That Comes Later.

"The commencements are all over, and graduates are now willing to accept positions and assist the march of the world's progress," remarked the Philosopher.

"Yes," added the Philosopher's friend, "and after they have sought for positions to accept until they are tired, they will be willing to take jobs."

'Tis Better Thus.

"After all, it's a good thing the Fourth of July route has been changed from Grant boulevard," remarked Mr. Murray Hill."

"It is," added Mr. Squirrel Hill, "for it obviates the danger sightseers would be in of falling off the route and dropping upon the landscape."

She Understood.

A Pittsburgh papa was engaged the other day in defining for his small daughter some of the words in the English language with which she was unfamiliar. The word "uniform" was under discussion.

"A uniform," the papa explained, "is a suit of clothes which is worn by numbers of persons, as distinguished from ordinary clothes. Private citizens can wear what they please, but the clothes of soldiers, for instance, are all made alike, and are called uniforms. Soldiers, firemen and policeman wear uniforms. Does my little girl now know what uniforms are?

"Yes, papa."

"Well, Erna, what are uniforms?"

"Uniforms are clothes worn by soldiers, policemen and twins."

POINT BREEZE.

A Queer Democrat.

From the New York Times.

At the Tilden club Thursday night Frank H. Brooks was among those who walked up to shake hands with ex-President Grover Cleveland.

"Mr. Cleveland," said Mr. Brooks, "I am very glad to see you. I owe to you the only political honor I have had in my life."

"How was that?" asked Mr. Cleveland.

"You appointed me consul to Trieste."

"Ah, indeed! How did you like Trieste?"

"I didn't go there. You afterward changed the appointment to consul general at St. Petersburg, the salary of the Trieste consulship not being such as I could accept."

"Well, how did you like St. Petersburg?"

"I didn't go there, either. Family reasons compelled me to decline that appointment also."

"Shake hands again," said the ex-president. "I have had some honor in my time, but never before, to my knowledge, have I had the distinguished honor of shaking hands with a Democrat who refused two offices."

His Youth Against Him.

From the Washington Post.

A tall, grizzly-looking New Yorker, who once resided on Hoosier soil, pushed through the doors of the senate committee on territories the other day, where he was confronted by Tom Shipp, the secretary of Senator Beveridge, the chairman. It was a very warm day, and the youthful senator had removed his coat and was performing his ablutions.

"I would like to see the senator," said the new-comer, and Shipp nodded toward the corner.

"No, no," retorted the visitor, "you can't work that on me. I have been in this town before."

"Well, I try to be the junior senator from Indiana," asserted Mr. Beveridge, and, after quite a parley, in which the stranger insisted that Mr. Beveridge must be an older man, he was recognized as a senator, and admitted to the conversation on that footing.

EYE-OPENERS.

"How will you have your eggs cooked?" asked the waiter.

"Make any difference in the cost o' 'em?" inquired the customer, cautiously.

"No."

"Then cook 'em with a nice slice o' ham," said he, greatly relieved.—Literary Digest.

Mrs. Gaswell—I thought you wanted to go to London for the summer. Now you're talking about Paris. What has made you change your mind?

Mr. Gaswell—Well, in London I'd be worth only £200,000, while in Paris I'd be worth 5,000,000 francs, and I tell you there's a heap of difference in the way it sounds.—Chicago Tribune.

She—I don't see why you say D'Auber isn't an artist. I understand he took a gold medal at the academy.

He—Well?

She—Well, he must have been an artist to do that.

He—Not necessarily. He may have been a kleptomaniac.—Philadelphia Press.

She had promised to act in an amateur play,
Though pretty, she wasn't o'erburdened with tact.
So when the lines came, "My lady come forth!"
She answered "Unless I come first, I won't act!"

PERSONALS

United States Senator Henry M. Teller of Colorado, accompanied by his son, H. J. Teller, passed through Pittsburgh from Washington to his home in Denver last night. "It was not known in Washington when I left the city when congress would adjourn," said he. "The date of the adjournment depends on the conference committees on the Philippine bill. If they can get together on the matter adjournment will take place Tuesday or Wednesday. The discussion of the Philippine question has been very lively at times, but I think the conference committees will reach an agreement. I see by the Washington newspapers that you Pittsburgh people are arranging to give President Roosevelt a handsome reception on the Fourth of July. Pittsburgh is an interesting city, and the president will enjoy his visit."

Private James M. Lingard, a former member of the Twelfth United States infantry, passed through the city from the Philippines last night to his home in Philadelphia. "Most of my service," he said, "was in the vicinity of Manila. For a time the regiment was in Gen. Jacob H. Smith's division. The newspaper stories printed in the states about Gen. Smith created much indignation among the troops when the papers reached the islands. Gen. Smith is very popular with the soldiers in the Philippines. I have seen the water cure administered to the Filipinos, and it is the only thing that will make them give up information. Hanging them up by the thumbs and toes and tickling the inside of their ears with bamboo splints does not tease them, but as soon as the water is started down the funnel, which is placed in their mouths, they soon give up all information they have. The water cure is the proper thing to make the natives talk."

General Manager J. B. Hutchinson of the Pennsylvania railroad, accompanied by his wife and private secretary, went in a special car to Philadelphia last night.

Mayor J. W. Phares of Trenton, N. J., accompanied by H. I. Maddock, sheriff of Mercer county, N. J., passed through the city last night to Chicago.

Judge S. L. Mestrezat of Uniontown, who is a member of the supreme court of Pennsylvania, is at the Hotel Henry.

R. P. Whitfield, curator of the American Museum of Natural History, New York, is at Newell's hotel.

Congressman Ernest F. Acheson went to Washington, D. C., last night. He refused to talk politics.

Dr. R. W. Browning, who is suing the C. L. Magee estate for a large medical fee, arrived in the city last night.

NATIONS THAT BRAG.

Uncle Sam Has Something to Say About Himself.

From the London Tit-Bits.

"Poor old John, poor old Johnnie."

Brother Jonathan was the speaker, and the tones were full of blissful commiseration.

"What's the matter with John Bull?" inquired Jean.

"Poor old fellow. You know how he boasts of his mighty population, of the vast size of his cities? Well, my census has shown that now he will have to give place to me. His great cities are no so great as mine, now."

"What about London?" sarcastically queried Jean, who has not yet got over the eclipse of Paris by New York.

"Well, of course, London is in some respects an exception," was the reply. "It is true that New York has not so many inhabitants as London, but there is only a difference of 11,000."

"Is that all?" jeered Jean.

"Oh, we'll soon wipe that out. Besides New York is so much finer than London," triumphantly asserted Jonathan.

"At all events, it has been built by Englishmen, eh, Brother J.?" slyly interposed the subject of the speaker's commiseration.

"It is unfortunately true that the best builders are Eglishmen. However, if English workers are utilized in New York, English names are not. In fact there has been much excitement over the question, and there has been a battle cry: 'No English names wanted.'

"A number of residents of the aristocratic part of Seventy-second street, near Central park, wanted to alter the name to Park lane. But New York would have none of London names.

"Where has London an underground tramway with four tracks, the center ones for express service—30 miles an hour—and the outer ones for ordinary traffic?"

"Yes, and if you want good machinery to work it you'll have to buy of me," said John Bull. "Tests have shown that my locomotives are the best in the world. But if one of your makers gets an order the whole world knows. My makers get orders by the dozens, but treat them as everyday occurrences.

"As to New York—poor! Why, London spends £6,000,000 a year in charity alone. It is the wealthiest city in the world."

"As I was about to say when I was so rudely interrupted," disdainfully resumed Jonathan, "my three great cities, New York, Chicago and Philadelphia have half a million more inhabitants than have the John Bull's three biggest cities, London, Glasgow and Liverpool. It is so all the way through. My 10 largest cities are together bigger than John's 10 largest cities, and my 20 biggest beat his 20 biggest.

"I have three cities whose inhabitants exceed a million. John has but one. I have 16 with populations of over a quarter of a million, he has only 13."

"Well, I've seven cities of over a quarter of a million inhabitants, and I've one you can't beat, Jonathan," said Ivan. "One of my towns, the Polish center of Lodz, is now known as the Russian Manchester.

"Fifteen years ago Lodz had 25,000 inhabitants; today it has an industrial population of 315,000 individuals. How's that for extraordinary growth?"

"I can beat America in one respect, at all events," said Sweden. "I possess the most northerly railway station in the world. It is situation well within the arctic circle, 400 miles from Stockholm. Great doors cover the railroad tracks into the station, so that the inside may be kept tolerably warm."

"Yes," triumphantly remarked John Bull, "and it has been made by British enterprise. British companies and British capital are engaged up there winning the tremendous ore deposits."

"Don't talk to me about railroads," irately exclaimed Jonathan. "What I don't know about railroads isn't worth knowing. I've a little job on hand now in railroad construction. I'm building a bridge 23 miles long. It's to cross Salt Lake and 12 miles of the bridge will be through deep water.

"It's in big buildings, though, where you haven't a look in. Look at my skyscrapers—the wonder of the world. The plans have been drawn up for a structure in New York. It will be great—125 stories high, and will contain 6,000 offices."

Then John Bull spoke.

"Ah, well, you have nothing to show that will compare with that fine example of British marine engineering skill recently floated on the Tyne. It is a huge floating graving dock, built for drydocking vessels of the West Indian fleet, and it will accommodate the largest battleships afloat.

"This monster vessel has a lifting capacity of 17,500 tons, and has an area of 69,000 square feet. Relays of tugs will tow it to the distant Bermudas.

"You talk about your staggering facts, but you've much to learn yet. Look at your apology for a postoffice. No proper parcels post. Your own industrial commission acknowledges that your telegraph system cannot be compared to mine. Its rates are double the rates of my system, the service is poor, and the general facilities are wretched. You're not quite up-to-date yet, Jonathan, much as you may brag."

The Thing That Counts.

From the Philadelphia Times.

The "reform-tax-rate" in New York is equal to that of Tammany. It is not so much the tax rate, however, as it is what is done with the proceeds that counts.

Different Sort of Boom.

From the New York Commercial.

He was from Texas. He had made some money in an oil well, or in the organization of a million-dollar company—it doesn't matter much which. At any rate, he was visiting New York for the first time and had "put up" at the Waldorf-Astoria. A New York broker, who is the fiscal agent for the Texas man's company, was showing him the sights, and the pair were strolling up Fifth avenue.

Suddenly the Texan stopped, hitched his breeches and shouted: "That's a baby Spindle Top!"

"Where?" inquired the broker.

"Over yender," from the Texan, Pointing excitedly toward the Thirty-ninth street corner.

The broker turned and saw that the Texan had espied a dozen or more derrick-like structures on the lot where a new building is in course of erection.

"I done hand't heard you all struck ile, but I'm heah in time for the boom! You all think you're mighty cute keepin' it quiet, but I'll hev the Heywood boys and old man Guffey up here inside er three days!"

It required several minutes and more drinks to make him understand that New York contractors have divers ways and means of laying a foundation. Still, New Yorkers may see a miniature Spindle Top, minus "gushers," near a fashionable part of Fifth avenue.

Judging by Appearance.

From the Philadelphia Press.

"Don't get nervous," said the facetious man on the back platform of the crowded car, "I'll pay you before I get off; don't I look like a good fare?"

"Oh, yes," replied the conductor, "you look like half a dozen good fares."

"Half a dozen, eh?"

"Yes, like 30 cents."

Merger and Consolidation.

From the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Democratic and Populist mergers in Kansas and Nebraska are not consistent in making faces at the other combinations.

AFTER THINKING IT OVER.

Glad we decided not to attend the coronation.—Elizabeth Herald.

There is nothing more changeable than Ohio weather except the Ohio Democratic party.—East Liverpool News Review.

If the supreme court keeps on knocking out legislative acts pretty soon we will have no laws in Ohio worth speaking of. Perhaps this might not be an unmixed evil, as we would thus get rid of a lot of very bad laws along with the good ones.—Steubenville Herald-Star.

The red-breasted harbinger of spring, together with a flock of more harbingers, now gives you the laugh while he gorges himself with cherries from your tree top. Some way or other the robin doesn't inspire at this time as he does in April. We love and welcome him then for the promise he brings. Just now, when the cherries are out of your reach and you haven't a ladder, his presence, 25 feet above your head, suggests a burning desire for a shotgun.—Oil City Blizzard.

Loafing is one of the most abominable of all bad habits to which man is heir. It is a habit that is easily acquired and once it becomes rooted in the character of a man, even the thunders of heaven cannot shake it or cause it to remove. Nothing is more disgusting to the average man or woman than to pass along the main thoroughfares of a town and see a number of men and boys sitting and standing about in front of a leading hotel or place of business with the sidewalk in front of them almost floating in tobacco juice and the atmosphere tinted with profanity. Such a state doth exist, and these are men who are peopling our poor houses and are always dissatisfied with the town or state government.—Reynoldsville Volunteer.

NEW ATTEMPT TO END STRIKE WILL BE MADE

Operators in Wyoming District Plan to Start Three Washeries This Week.

MINING NEXT ON PROGRAM

Union Officials Declare Settlement of Struggle Is Far In Future—Guard Accidentally Shot—Two Policemen Are Arrested at Mayfield.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 29.—The beginning of the eighth week of the antracite miners' strike shows no change in the situation. At President Mitchell's headquarters, National Board Member John Fallon is in charge while Mr. Mitchell is absent in the west. Mr. Fallon said tonight that the miners were just as determined as ever, and unless there was arbitration the strike was destined to go on.

An attempt will be made to start at least three washeries in the Wyoming region tomorrow. One operator said tonight that the number of washeries now in operation was greater than at any time since the strike began and that there was only one step between operating a washery and a colliery. Sooner or later he thought an attempt would be made to start up a mine.

The Wilkesbarre lace mill, which has been idle for 10 days, will resume work tomorrow. The mill employs 1,100 hands, mostly girls. Because the superintendent would not discharge five girls whose fathers and brothers were working as nonunion men in the mines the other employes quit work. The superintendent of the mill then announced that there would be no work until further notice. Last night he was waited upon by a committee from the Central Labor union and a temporary agreement reached by which all hands will return to work Tuesday. In the meantime it is thought a permanent settlement will be reached.

While a number of coal and iron policemen who are guarding the Nottingham mine of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company at Plymouth were cleaning their firearms this morning, one of the guns went off and a bullet struck one of the officers, Benjamin Kauer, in the side, inflicting a very serious wound. The wounded man was removed to the Wilkesbarre hospital in a critical condition.

A notice was issued from strike headquarters tonight that all union miners should keep away from Fernie, British Columbia, where, it is claimed a strike is in progress. It is said agents from British Columbia have been in the anthracite region for some days past trying to hire men to go to Fernie.

SCRANTON, PA., June 29.—Five of the men employed at the Glenwood colliery of the Erie company at Mayfield were taken into custody by Sheriff Schadt early this morning on the charge of shooting Joseph Quinn during the strike melee which occurred at midnight. The prisoners are Edward and Charles Kane, Edward Shopland, Frank Dohrer and Michael Kearney. At a hearing before 'Squire McGovern this afternoon they were each held in $500. General Manager May of the Erie company became their bondsman.

The defendants claim they were attacked by a big crowd and fired to frighten off their assailants. They deny having shot at the crowd. Quinn was not in the melee. He was emerging from a barber shop across the way when a stray bullet struck him in the leg.

CHICAGO, June 29.—President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America arrived here today. When asked the object of his visit to Chicago he said he came to settle several questions in dispute in the Illinois coal fields, which had been referred to Commissioner Herman Justi of the coal operators' association and himself.

Transportation Arrangements for the Grove City Dedication.

A large number of the members of the committee of arrangements for the dedication of the I. O. O. F. Home for Indigent Members of the order, at Grove City, on July 17, met in Mendel's hall, Allegheny, yesterday afternoon. It was reported that final arrangements for railroad transportation have about been completed and that 22 special trains have been secured and that probably four more will be at the disposal of the committee.

Cleon Glcqualias was appointed chairman of the flag committee, which will have charge of the raising of a steel flag-pole, 150 feet in height, at the home, on the day of the dedication. The children of the Meadville home will take part in the raising of the pole. H. H. Parkhill was appointed chairman of the committee on amusements; L. K. White, bureau of information; D. M. Morrow, checking department; August Lock, the commissary department; S. S. Hager, on transportation, and S. A. Steele that of the reception committee.

The Red Cross association will be in charge of Mrs. Martha Elton, who will be assisted by several trained nurses. Mrs. Laura Morrow will be in charge of the dinner arrangements, which will be conducted by the Daughters of Rebekah. Another meeting of the general committee will be held at 2 p. m. next Sunday in Mendel's hall, to complete all arrangements.

PARK BAND CONCERTS.

The Bad Weather Seriously Affected the Attendance.

Good, strong programs were booked at all the traction parks, and it was a pity so few people were there to enjoy them. Phinney's United States band of Chicago gave an excellent concert, which was fully appreciated both afternoon and evening. At Oakwood, Helen May Butler's Ladies' Military band gave an entertainment that was very pleasing. Miss Wollerscheld's cornet solo and Miss Sanford's trombone solo were generously applauded. On account of the bad weather Mlle. Zeno was unable to make a balloon ascension yesterday.

Those interesting youngsters who compose the Chicago Newsboys' band were at Calhoun on schedule time and gave their concert. There were several solos by the boys. This aggregation is certainly destined to become very popular, for their handling of difficult musical numbers is like that of a veteran band. Out at Southern park the Second Brigade band, under the leadership of Director Peter Dannhardt, pleased a rather slim but appreciative audience.

MAN FOUND DEAD IN ELEVATOR SHAFT

CASSIN WANDERED INTO FRICK BUILDING AND WAS KILLED.

While Partially Dazed He Fell Into the Elevator Shaft and His Skull Was Crushed—Body Was Discovered By the Chief Engineer.

Louis Cassin, 35 years old, a laborer of New Kensington, was found dead at the foot of No. 4 elevator shaft in the Frick building yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. His skull was fractured and he fell from the lower basement of the building, which is about 30 feet from the shaft pit. Cassin was bewildered when he entered the building, and it is supposed he went to the basement floor and, opening the elevator door, fell into the shaft. He was identified by several letters that were found on him. He boarded with a William Jackson in New Kensington and had been working in the glass works there.

Cassin was discovered by the chief engineer of the building, C. L. Goldner. He heard a rustling sound in the shaft when the elevator was running. Thinking that something was wrong with the machinery, he took a torch and made an investigation.

To his surprise he found Cassin there, dead. There was every evidence that he had fallen. His head struck the air cushion and blood stains and matted hair were found on it. Cassin's foot was touching one of the elevator ropes and the strands made a rustling sound which attracted Goldner's attention.

Cassin bore evidence that he had been drinking. He entered the building unnoticed and neither Elevator Dispatcher John Karney nor the elevator boy, John Buffington, heard him fall. This is easily explained, as they were both above the floor which Cassin fell from. His remains were taken to the morgue. It is understood that he has no relatives in this city. Detectives George Waggoner and Albert Swinehart investigated the case immediately. It was learned that he had attended services at the cathedral. E. L. Kohl of Twelfth and Liberty streets last night identified the remains.

Church on behalf of the institute, and by the Hon. George H. Anderson, secretary of the chamber of commerce, on behalf of the business interests of Pittsburgh. The afternoon session will open at 2:30 o'clock, when the addresses of the vice presidents will be delivered. In the evening an illustrated lecture complimentary to the citizens of Pittsburgh will be given in the Carnegie music hall by Dr. Leonard P. Kinnicutt of the Worcester Polytechnic Institute. The subject will be "The Prevention of the Pollution of Streams by Modern Methods of Sewage Treatment."

News of the Rivers.

The Gertrude will enter the Morgantown trade on Wednesday.

The Kanawha will be found in port this morning and she lays over until tomorrow.

The steamer Elizabeth will lay over in port until tomorrow. After tomorrow she will leave port every other day for Morgantown.

Henry G. Hodgson, a well-known engineer, who for 14 years has carried a piece of steel in his right eye, recently had an operation performed, and the metal was successfully removed. His eyesight has improved.

William Myers, clerk on the steamer Cincinnati, accidentally tripped and fell between the guards and wharfboat at Rising Sun in a rush to get aboard. The mate hurried to his rescue and assisted him from his perilous position.

It is thought that the new towboat Sprague will be able to leave St. Louis in two or three weeks under steam. She will go to New Orleans after a tow of empties. If there is water for her to take a tow of coal south from Louisville, she will do so.

The Pittsburgh and Cincinnati packet line will resume operations, the steamer Queen City leaving Pittsburgh for Cincinnati on Tuesday, July 1, at 4 p. m., instead of Wednesday, her usual day. She will be followed by the Virginia, leaving Pittsburgh Saturday, July 5, at 4 p. m. The Virginia will leave Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Tuesday, July 1, at 5 p. m.

In the long list of southern names that come in for a share of the omnibus bill benefits is that of Charles G. Hunter, a son-in-law of Capt. Billy Fullwood of the Louisville-Evansville mail line steamers. The amount awarded is $200,000 for properties confiscated during the great war, the elder Hunter then being a Louisiana sugar grower. Mr. Charles G. Hunter is now interested in a large sugar mill or refinery at New Orleans, and has two sisters who come in for their share of the good luck.

KAISER'S METEOR AGAIN OUTSAILS ALL HER RIVALS

Sunday's Race Ends in a Dead Calm and Drifting, Without an Award.

AN UGLY COMPLICATION

Hasty Order to Shorten the Course Home Countermanded Through the Emperor's Protest—Friday's Contest Awarded to Cicely.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Kiel, June 30, 12:30 A. M.—Emperor William's American-built schooner yacht Meteor, the Cicely, owned by Cecil Quentin of England, and the other yachts which started in the schooner race Sunday are at the this hour drifting toward home. The Meteor is in the lead and the Cicely is second. Emperor William and the empress are on board the Meteor and probably will spend most of the night on the water. The guests invited by the emperor to dine tonight on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern have long since dispersed.

Emperor William resolutely declined to leave the yacht until the finish of the race and the judges and the sailing committee sent a launch to port to bring out provisions to the vessel which carries them.

The yachts in Sunday's race, carrying full light weather canvass, crossed the starting line at 11:35 Sunday morning in the following order: The Lasca, the Clara, the Cicely, the Iduna, the Nordwest and the Meteor.

The Cicely Wins an Advantage.

The wind was dead ahead for the entire distance to the first mark, 12 miles from the starting point. At the end of an hour the Meteor worked out ahead of the Cicely, which had already distanced the other contestants. The Cicely challenged the Meteor for the weather berth, slowly passed her and lengthened her lead.

The time at the first mark was as follows: The Cicely 3 hours, 24 minutes, 40 seconds. The Meteor, 3 hours, 29 minutes, 20 seconds.

As the wind had dropped a good deal the sailing committee decided to shorten the course by one side of the triangle and to instruct the yachts to come home direct from the first mark. The committee, consequently, borrowed all the available steam launches in its neighborhood, and, with a member of the committee on board each, the launches started to intercept the yachts and inform them of the decision before they rounded the first mark. Acting under these instructions, the Cicely rounded the mark and started for home, but Emperor William objected to this change of the course because the Meteor was coming on the reach, which would show her best points. The sailing committee countermanded its previous instructions.

The Meteor Forged Ahead.

The Cicely, in the meantime, had lost the five minutes she had gained, and, being to leeward, she lost five minutes more in jibbing. All the yachts, with their spinnakers boomed out on starboard, then started for the second mark, seven miles away. On this reach the wind continued to die away. The Meteor rounded the second mark a long ways ahead of the other yachts, and when she started on the homeward leg of 11 miles it was almost completely calm. All the observation yachts and excursion steamers left the racers at this point. The yachts were drifting hopelessly.

The sailing committee has decided if the Meteor beats the Cicely to give the Cicely a special prize, in view of the complication which arose from the orders to change the course.

The race of Friday has been awarded to the Cicely. In this contest the Meteor finished 7 minutes and 22 seconds ahead of the Cicely, but under her time allowance the English boat won by 1 minute and 11 seconds. On this occasion M. Guilleaume, owner of the Clara, which was also in the race, lodged a protest against the Cicely, declaring that the rules required her to carry two anchors at her bows instead of one. The judges reserved decision Friday because of this protest.

DISMAL IN THE PARKS.

Yesterday's Depressing Weather Kept Crowds at Home—Additions to Zoo's Inhabitants.

The attendance at the two city parks yesterday was very poor owing to the miserable condition of the weather, which was wet and gloomy during almost the entire day. A few people, however, braved the rain and went to the zoo in Highland park. No difference how cold or wet the Sunday, there are always visitors at the zoo.

The weather appeared to have an affect on the animals yesterday, as most of them were very quiet, during the afternoon. The two Polar bears, who as a rule are very restless, and constantly pace to and fro in their cages, slept most of the afternoon. The monkeys were not as active as usual and there were few animals in the zoo, that did not show signs of the depressing weather.

Among the donations received by Supt. Earnest Tretow during the week, was a horned owl. It was donated by J. F. Morris of Fordyce, Pa. Mrs. J. M. Greek of Sewickley donated an alligator, and will send Supt. Tretow an Angora cat in a few days.

Shelter houses are being erected in the bear cages, and possibly by the time June roses again bloom the bear pits will be constructed. A covey of wild quail have taken up their residence in Highland park. The cock bird of the covey could be heard all over the park yesterday, whistling "Bob White."

There were a few people in the Carnegie art galleries and museum yesterday. There are no new pictures in the galleries. The attendance at the last free organ recital of the season was only fair. The organ was presided over by Walter Hall. The next free recital will be given by Edwin H. Lemare on Saturday evening, October 4.

EMBROIDERY FOR CHILDREN'S CLOTHES.

The grown folks are not to have a monopoly of the embroidery craze, nor are they to enjoy the use of mediaeval styles by themselves. Our tiny friends lend themselves so much more gracefully to the picturesque that really they have a better claim to be exponents of the new vogue than their elders. Here we have a tiny reproduction of the broad cape, the ruffled sleeve and the straight coat effect of the seventeenth century garments, carried out in openwork embroidery for a dainty tot. Her bonnet is pompadour, with a slightly English tinge.

$20,000 DAMAGE TO THE SCAIFE FOUNDRY

Firemen Had a Hard Struggle to Keep Fire from Reaching Adjoining Buildings.

Fire was discovered yesterday at 12:30 in the casting department of the Scaife Foundry & Machine Company's plant, on Smallman street, between Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth streets, and before the flames were extinguished the large foundry building was a total wreck, entailing a loss of $20,000.

A small blaze creeping through the roof of the building near a furnace stack was seen by several persons at the same time and an alarm was turned in from box 133. When the firemen arrived, the fire, which had spread rapidly, was bursting through the roof in several places. A second alarm was immediately sent in, but before the additional engines reached the scene, the building was almost enveloped in flames. The foundry is a large wooden structure, covered with sheet iron, with a smaller brick building adjoining. A strong wind was blowing and the fire threatened the houses on the opposite side of Smallman street and the big machine department building of the Scaife Company.

The firemen soon surrounded the blazing building and poured a perfect deluge of water upon the fire. It was a fierce battle for a half hour, but the damage was confined to the foundry.

The building and its contents are a total loss. There were many valuable patterns and castings in the foundry and until the exact number of the latter is known, the members of the firm will be unable to ascertain the full loss. It is estimated it will reach $20,000, which is fully covered by insurance. There was no work going on in the plant during the day and the origin of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed sparks from a cupulo lodged on the roof and started the blaze.

Church Dedicated at New Castle With Pleasing Feature.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., June 29.—(Special.)—The handsome new First United Presbyterian church was dedicated here today. The dedicatory sermon was delivered this morning by the Rev. Dr. J. T. McCrory of Allegheny. This afternoon special services were held, at which the Rev. Dr. Samuel H. Moore, the Rev. J. Q. A. McDowell, Dr. H. S. Jordan and other leading ministers of this place took part. The Rev. Robert Ferguson, son of President R. G. Ferguson of Westminster college, was this week ordained pastor of the congregation.

The structure just dedicated was completed at a cost of $25,000, exclusive of the furnishings, and will comfortably seat 1,500 persons. This morning nearly $11,000 in debt stared the congregation in the face, but this sum was practically wiped out by voluntary contributions.

MURDERER CAUGHT SLEEPING IN CAR

Robert Burke Was Captured by Officers at New Castle, Slumbering on Freight Train.

Robert Burke, colored, who shot and killed Philip Rissing, another negro, at Neville Island on Saturday night, was captured yesterday morning at New Castle by Special Officers Stephen McBride and Thomas Dixon. He was sleeping in a freight car when taken into custody. Burke was brought to this city and committed to the Allegheny county jail yesterday afternoon on a charge of murder, by Coroner Jesse M. McGeary.

As soon as the officers learned of the shooting they were also informed that a man resembling Burke was seen in the yards of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad in Coraopolis and had taken a freight train. The officers secured an engine from the railroad company, and were taken to Shousetown for the purpose of intercepting the fugitives.

The officers arrived there too late to catch the train and were brought on back here. Early yesterday morning they took a train over the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie and went to New Castle, with the hope of intercepting Burke at that place.

Upon their arrival there they were informed the freight train was side-tracked in the lower yard. The officers went from car to car and finally discovered the murderer asleep in the car, with the shotgun lying by his side. He was handcuffed and brought to Pittsburgh.

Burke said that he and Rissing were intoxicated when the tragedy occurred. He said that Rissing struck his sister, Mrs. Ellen Young, and for that reason he shot him. He said that he went after the shooting to Fleming park and he took a train at Coraopolis. Burke and Rissing had not been on good terms for several weeks. Two weeks ago Burke told Grant Miller that he intended to kill Rissing within the next two weeks.

Mrs. Young, with whom Rissing quarrelled, is a mother of several children. The tragedy occurred in the Burke homestead, Neville Island, and all the principals were in the second-story bedroom.

Coroner's Physician Walter J. McCandless took forty grains of shot from Rissing's breast yesterday afternoon. The weapon was a 10-guage shotgun.

PRISCILLA'S PENCIL

Took note of some exceedingly dainty fans recently displayed in one of the big department shops. They were of pearl sticks with filmy lace covering, and on each lace figure was set a pearl or a colored jewel to emphasize the pattern of the filigree. These jewels were very flat and rounded at the facets, so as not to tear the lace when rolled. Some of amethysts were very dainty and the pearls, especially suitable for graduates, were the very embodiment of girlish delicacy.

The Shepherd's Plaid— Is holding its own gaily this summer, and scarce a smart traveling gown of any other material has been turned out by the best houses. Black and white and navy blue and white are the favorite colors, though an occasional brown check is seen for variety. They are usually made with strapped bands of the material and small crystal or pearl buttons for trimming. Cool and comfortable, they are no more weighty than a linen gown, while vastly more serviceable.

For a Little Girl— A big flat hat of dotted net is shown, called the "dolly hat." It has innumerable frills of the net to serve as a brim and here and there a bit of satin baby ribbon in any preferred color is run through the meshes. A rosette of the same on one side and silk ties to match are the only other trimming.

Pique Gowns— In severe tailor-made outlines, and with no trimming save black pearl buttons are in high favor for slender young girls. The Gibson shoulder effect or the tucked front is preferred; in white pique each tuck is hemstitched to preserve the severity of the surface. These are worn with black belts or girdles for any daylight occasion.

Dainty Maids— Are now wearing corset covers of alternated rows of embroidery and lace insertion. Strips of beading attach the two and through this beading narrow satin ribbon is run, tying in a series of fluffy knots in front at the bust. One set made by a Pittsburgh girl last week was called a harlequin and had pink, blue and yellow ribbons.

For Sofa Pillows— Flower faces are in high favor just now, the petals being spread wide apart and the little face in natural tints looking out from the center. A beautiful pansy pillow with children's faces was worked not long since by an East End woman, and a touch of unique interest was added by the fact that the faces were transferred from photographic plates to the linen, thus giving likenesses of a family of well-beloved nieces and nephews.

Coronation Belts— Showing the crossed flags of England and America, surmounted by a crown, are worn by some of the faddish girls. They come in various metals, but the prettiest are in colored enamel, set on black satin ribbon girdles.

JERUSALEM SELECTED.

World Convention of International Sunday School Conference to Be Held.

DENVER, COL., June 29.—Toronto having been selected as the meeting place of the next triennial convention of the International Sunday School association in 1905, the world convention in 1904 will be held in Jerusalem. At the last world convention in London, in 1894, the executive committee was empowered to select the next meeting place, a preference being expressed either for Toronto or Geneva. A quorum of the members of that committee are here in attendance upon the international convention, and they have already practically agreed to hold the next world convention at Jerusalem.

BIGGEST CROWD IN PITTSBURGH'S HISTORY COMING

Railroad Officials Preparing For Fourth of July's Immense Throngs.

200,000 IS THE ESTIMATE

German Singers Rehearse in Old City Hall—Will Be 500 Voices Strong at Schenley Park—Arrangements For Sheridan Escort to President.

The local railroads expect to handle the biggest crowd in Pittsburgh's history on the Fourth of July. The passenger officials are busy working out the detailed arrangements and notices of special excursions are to be seen in every town for a radius of over 100 miles.

The Baltimore & Ohio officials have made special arrangements for transporting passengers to and from Schenley park on the Fourth and special trains will be run direct to Panther Hollow from all points 20 miles beyond the city limits. This includes Versailles, but passengers from McKeesport and all intermediate stations will be taken direct to the main station at Water and Smithfield streets in order to prevent a congestion of the trains from a distance at the park.

E. D. Smith, general passenger agent of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, who is from experience able to form a correct estimate of the crowds expected at the celebration, said yesterday that he believed that no less than 200,000 people would be at Schenley park on the Fourth of July.

Traffic Will Be Heavy.

"The Baltimore & Ohio will carry at least 10,000 people to and from the park," he said, "and we have made every arrangement for the rapid and safe handling of the business, both on the main line and on the Pittsburgh & Western. In order to insure perfect service for the excursionists from a distance all special trains from outside a radius of 20 miles of the city will be taken direct to the park and the passengers disembarked at Panther Hollow. Cinder paths have been made leading from the sidings direct to the main driveway and within easy access of the point where the chief features of the celebration will take place.

"The excursion trains will all be on the tracks and sidings during the evening and will not leave until a half-hour after the fireworks are over, thus giving all ample opportunity to embark without any unnecessary haste. All the cars will bear cards, giving their destination, and a number of headlights will be so placed that there will be plenty of light to enable people to find their proper cars.

Officials in Charge.

"We will have a large force of the railroad police and detectives at the park and officials of the road will have direct supervision over the arrival and departure of trains at that point."

The hospital arrangements for the Fourth of July celebration, which are in charge of Major William McC. Johnston, chief surgeon of the Fourteenth infantry, and warden of the Western penitentiary, will be completed during the week. Eight large mess tents will be used for the hospital service, which will be pitched at points considered most convenient by the medical staff. A detail of physicians and nurses, under charge of Major Johnston, will be in attendance, and hourly reports will be made to him.

Captain Charles S. W. Jones, commander of the Sheridan troop, which will act as the personal escort to President Roosevelt on the Fourth, came to the city yesterday from Tyrone and inspected the route of parade with Colonel Logan. Captain Jones expressed himself as much pleased with the route. The troop will be quartered in the armory of the Eighteenth infantry, in Oakland, during its stay in the city, and the horses will be stabled a short distance away.

Singers Had Rehearsal.

The first general rehearsal of the German singing societies which are to sing on the Fourth of July in Schenley park in honor of President Roosevelt's presence was held yesterday in Old City hall. Three hundred members of various Maennerchor societies were there. Prof. John S. Vogel conducted the rehearsal, as he will the singing on the Fourth itself.

At Turner hall were 100 singers who could not attend the rehearsal on account of an important meeting, but they will be on hand in Schenley park, and it is expected that at least 100 more, making 500 in all, will sing on the Fourth. The three songs to be rendered are "The Star-Spangled Banner," "America" and "Der Tag des Herrn," a famous German song by Kreutzer.

After the rehearsal John Dimling made a brief address, telling the singers where they were to sit during the exercises and expressing the hope that every man would be in his place as early as 9 o'clock. Badges to identify the singers and secure them admission to the section in the stand reserved for them were distributed.

The Carnegie steel mills at Homestead will shut down on Friday morning, July 4, and remain idle until Sunday evening, July 6, thus giving the workmen a longer vacation for the Fourth than is usual.

LINER MAKES RESCUE.

Picks Up Crew of Waterlogged Schooner in Mid-Ocean.

NEW YORK, June 29.—The Holland-American line steamer Potsdam, which arrived here today from Rotterdam and Boulogne, brought to port Capt. M. A. Nielson and 10 men, the crew of the Norwegian bark Biskop Brun, who were rescued at sea from their vessel, which was abandoned in a waterlogged condition, and on fire, on June 25, in latitude 43.58 degrees north, longitude 43:48 degrees west. When rescued the men were in a destitute condition, having become exhausted by 10 days' and nights' labor at the pumps, keeping the water down.

The waterlogged vessel was set on fire so as to prevent it from becoming a menace to navigation. The men were treated with great kindness by the officers, crew and passengers of the Potsdam. For their benefit a concert was given on Friday night, June 27, by the saloon passengers.

MAIL CLERKS ARE THE SUFFERERS

SHORTENING OF TRAIN TIME IS OVERWORKING MANY OF THEM.

New Fast Schedules Really Bring New York Twenty-Four Hours Nearer Pittsburgh in Sending and Answering Letters—Business Men Reap Benefit.

The railway mail clerks, stars in their profession, who have been assigned to work on the new fast mail train to St. Louis, that makes faster time than ever before made by a mail train, are viewing with dismay the probability that the running time will be cut down an hour less. The clerks, who live in Indianapolis, have already voiced their objections in the newspapers, unlike the Pittsburgh and New York crews, who admit that the work is hard but believe that the postoffice department will ameliorate conditions as soon as possible. The train is at present in the nature of an experiment. There is no appropriation to pay for the additional mail crews needed, and until next month no other arrangements can be made.

When the new train was put on the only way to man it with mail clerks was to draft men from trains already running. As a result hardship has been caused all around. The new train gets some mail that formerly went to old trains, but proportionately not enough to lighten the labors of the old crews. As for the clerks, who run on the new train, they have found the work growing, so that now, 10 days after the first run, they handle twice as much mail as on the day they first went out.

Rapid Work Required.

These men had been accustomed to have a certain number of hours to assort the mail on their trains, and to be transferred suddenly to a run that was shortened four and a half hours tested their ability to the utmost. For example, between New York and Pittsburgh the crew on that run has more than an hour less than before. The shortened time keeps them "on the jump." While before they would get through sorting before Johnstown was reached, now they are still sorting at Greensburg and do not get everything cleaned up until Pittsburgh is reached. If the time is again shortened by an hour between New York and St. Louis the work will be still harder, but it is believed that this will not be done until after the new appropriation has become available, so that more clerks can be put on and a distributing car attached. Then, too, the depleted crews on the other trains will be filled.

Really a Day's Difference.

But if the new train has made the work harder for the mail clerks it is a good thing for Pittsburgh business men, although not all of them realize that New York has been brought nearer to them by more than 12 hours.

The new train arrives in Pittsburgh at 12:20 p. m. The mail is distributed in the business district by 3 p. m. A merchant receiving a letter in that mail can sit down and answer it immediately and by promptly depositing it in the postoffice the answer will start to New York by train No. 18, which leaves Pittsburgh at 4:40 p. m. and arrives at New York at 3:45 a. m. the next day. If, in the letter he receives at 3 o'clock, there are price quotations that suit him, he can send his order off the same afternoon and it can be filled in New York the next morning, and be shipped immediately. The mail that now arrives in Pittsburgh at 12:20 p. m., formerly got in here at 7 p. m., after business hours. A letter arriving then would not, of course, be delivered until the next morning and an answer could not be delivered in New York until 24 hours later, so that really, instead of New York being brought 12 hours nearer, it is in practice 24 hours nearer.

SIX MEN WERE BADLY BURNED BY GAS FLAME

While Pipes Were Being Disconnected at Byers' Mill the Gas Ignited.

THREE TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

They Are Reported to Be in a Serious Condition—The Others Were Removed to Their Homes After Receiving Treatment.

While tearing down an old furnace in Byers' mill, South Sixth street, at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, an explosion of natural gas occurred and severely burned six men and slightly burned several others. Some of the men were tearing down the masonry and others were disjointing gas mains. It was thought that the gas had been shut off from these pipes, but when the first pipe was disconnected a blinding flame shot through the air which enveloped the workmen. The injured are:

ANDY WORKORK, 38 years old, of No. 37 South Tenth street. He was seriously burned about the head and body. Was removed to the South Side hospital.

JOHN SOVEICK, 58 years old, of No. 624 Second avenue. Face and arms burned. Condition serious. He was removed to the South Side hospital.

FRANK SMITH, 36 years old, of South Ninth street. Burned about the face and body. Condition serious. Was taken to the South Side hospital.

JOSEPH SOKOSKI, 26 years old, of No. 121 McCain street; burned about the face and body. Was removed to his home.

JOHN BALL, No. 121 McCain street, 30 years old; was burned about the arms and face. Was removed to his home.

JOSEPH MACHINISKI, No. 69 Magnolia street, was burned about the face and arms. Was removed to his home.

Several other workmen were burned in the explosion, but their injuries are slight. At the hospital the condition of the three patients is reported to be serious. Workork is in a precarious condition. It is thought that he has inhaled the flames.

A. E. Anderson, a foreman, and about 15 men were tearing down a furnace and the men were working close together. Some were tearing down the masonry work and the others were disconnecting the gas pipes. When the latter gang disjointed the first pipe a sheet of flame burst out about them. They were lifted from the ground by the force of the explosion.

They gathered themselves up and ran from the burning furnace, shrieking with pain. They ran outside of the mill in the drizzling rain, and as the water came in contact with their burned faces, they became frantic with pain. Word was sent to No. 7 police station and the patrol wagon, loaded with officers and physicians, went to the scene.

The injuries of the men were dressed and they were removed to the hospital and their homes. How the explosion occurred is a mystery, as there was no fire in the furnace. It is thought that one of the workmen was lighting a pipe and thus ignited the gas. This could not be confirmed, as no one could be found who would admit having done so. The explosion did no damage to the mill.

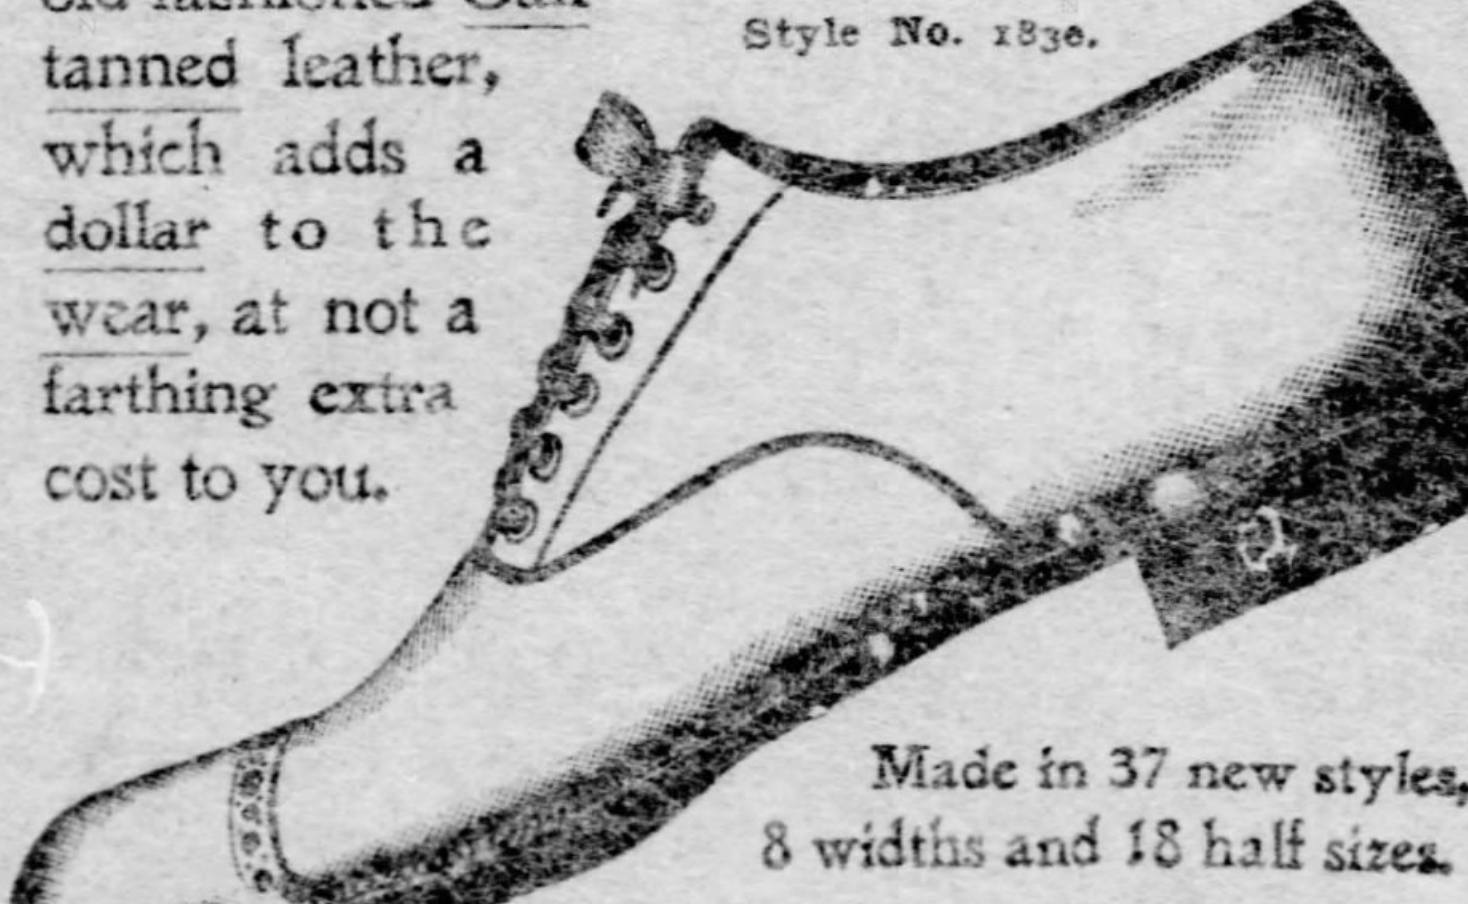
Slipless Oxfords.

Regal "Oxfords" clasp heel and instep so snugly, that they never slip nor chafe.

Because—they are made upon lasts designed for Oxfords only,—instead of upon high laced shoe lasts extemporized into Oxfords.

Because—the vamps are cut for right and left, from patterns shaped to each last—instead of from the usual "interlocking" patterns, which economize leather and labor, at the expense of fit, and shape-retention.

Every Regal Oxford has a sole of genuine old fashioned Oak tanned leather, which adds a dollar to the wear, at not a farthing extra cost to you.



Style No. 1830.

Made in 37 new styles, 8 widths and 18 half sizes.

Catalogue on request.

REGAL $3.50 OAK SOLED SHOES.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Cincinnati, O., June 29.—The champions today broke the winning streak of "Lucky" Thielman and incidentally used the whitewash brush with telling effect on the Reds.

Sam Leever, who has been enjoying a lay-off of several days, gave his arm a tryout today, and the score shows that it could not possibly be better. He had the local batsmen in the palm of his hand from start to finish, and whenever they made a bid for runs he had but to close his fingers to stem the tide.

The game was played in 1 hour and 25 minutes and from a local point of view this was about the only redeeming feature. There were several rather enjoyable plays made by the Pirates but the Reds, with one or two exceptions, appeared to have a bad case of that tired feeling and Sam Crawford seemed ready for the hospital with this affliction.

Pirates Played Great Ball.

The Pirates played the ball for which they are noted. They did not go into the game with an air that would indicate over-confidence. They started in as if they were playing a championship team and kept up the pace until the last man was retired.

The loyal fans might raise the cry of luck, but that is the old story of a winning ball team. If there was any luck it came in the fifth inning when the Pirates scored their first brace of tallies.

With one out, Ritchey was hit by a pitched ball. Leach's out placed him on second then Smith popped a little fly to right field, which fell right on the line after Crawford and Beckley had made futile effort to reach it.

Ritchey Scored First.

Ritchey scored and Smith reached second base. Leever followed with a little fly to the same spot and Smith came home. Up to that time neither side had made a run, and the Pirates had not made a hit. The Reds made a bid in their half of this inning and got a man as far as third, but he died there.

Thielman, who seemed unsteady at times, hit another man in the eighth. This time it was Clarke and again there was trouble. Davis had started the inning with a hit. Beaumont then singled to right, Wagner put the ball in the same place and Davis and Clarke scored.

Bransfield's Two Bagger.

Bransfield was not to be outdone and he sent the sphere to right for two bases, Beaumont and Wagner scoring. Kitty was, however, not advanced.

After two men were out in the ninth Beckley and Crawford hit safely and the crowd saw a chance of preventing a whitewash, but Crawford took much too long a lead off of first base and Smith, by a quick throw, nailed him, ending the game. The score:

LEANDER AND MUNROE WILL RACE TONIGHT

Memphis Lad Is the Favorite, But the Chicago Rider Is in Fine Condition.

George Leander of Chicago and Benny Munroe, who are to meet tonight in a 30-mile motor-paced race at the Colosseum track, Allegheny, will arrive in Pittsburgh early this morning. Both riders have been delayed in reaching here on account of change of arrangements in the east.

The two men are in excellent condition and as this is the first time they have met this season, a close and exciting race may be looked for.

Munroe has already ridden two races at the Colosseum and is well acquainted with the track, but Leander has not been here before and is anxious to have a few trials this morning before going into the race.

Leander is in better form than he has been at any time this season as his work last week at Washington and Baltimore will show, and he will give Benny Munroe, who is a great favorite with the patrons of cycle racing in this city, a hard contest tonight.

The race will be run in three heats of 10 miles each. The start will be made from opposite sides of the track, which is now the recognized practice at all the leading tracks. This method lessens the danger of spills at the start and is safer in other ways, and at the same time gives both men the advantage of riding low down on the track.

The amateur events for tonight, the one-third mile and the one mile handicap, will be especially interesting. All the leading amateur riders are entered.

CHAMPIONS HOME TODAY.

They Will Arrive This Morning and Open a Series With Cincinnati at Exposition Park.

Manager Bid McPhee's team of Cincinnati Reds opens a series of three games with the Pirates at Exposition park this afternoon. The two teams will arrive in Pittsburgh shortly after 8 o'clock this morning. While it has not yet been definitely decided who will pitch for the champions in today's game, it is just probable Deacon Phillippe may be given a chance.

"If the weather man is good to us," said Col. Barney Dreyfuss last night, "we hope to be able to make a clean sweep of the series from the Reds. I want to see the champions win all three games and then the boys should be in good shape for getting at the Brooklyns July 3 and we should win both games the Fourth."

The games scheduled at Cincinnati Saturday had to be canceled on account of rain. This spoiled the Pirates' chances for taking two and adding to their league standing. Wid Conroy, who has been suspended for 10 days for his little mix-up with Joe Tinker at Chicago, is expected to arrive in Pittsburgh the latter part of the week and will be in good shape to get back into the game when John T. Brush says the word.

FRENCHMAN WON RACE.

Marcel Renault Captured Paris-Vienna Automobile Meet in 15 Hours and 22 Minutes.

VIENNA, June 29.—The Paris-Vienna automobile race was won by Marcel Renault. He covered the distance from Paris to Vienna in 15 hours and 22 minutes, at an average speed of 82 kilometers (about 51 miles) an hor.

Seborowski was second, Maurice Barman third, Baras fourth, Edmond fifth and Hemery sixth. Baron de Forest, who was seventh, was disqualified on account of an accident to his motor car. S. F. Edge, an Englishman, was the twentieth to arrive.

He denies reports circulated to the effect that he was disqualified, and cites as proof that he was declared winner of the James Gordon Bennett cup.

Three of the contestants claim to have won. Renault passed the winning point precisely at 2 o'clock. He was disqualified, however, for having failed to stop at the control station at Florisdorf, a suburb of Vienna across the Danube, where the final racing time was to be taken.

Instead, he dashed madly through the crowd of officials and timekeepers and entered Vienna at full speed, scattering vehicles and pedestrians in all directions and arriving at the Prater in 18 minutes, instead of in the prescribed minimum of 45 minutes from Florisdorf.

The decision will probably be delayed three days, owing to the complicated calculations arising from the speed restrictions imposed upon the contestants in Switzerland and elsewhere along the route. Much sympathy was expressed over the ill-luck which befell the American representatives. The Englishmen who took part in the contest were unfortunate.

INDIANA'S GOOD RECORD.

Normal Team Won 14 Out of 20 Games Played During the Season.

INDIANA, PA., June 29.—(Special.)—The Indiana Normal school baseball team has just closed a good season. The games were harder, more games were played, and over half of which were on foreign diamonds.

Williams was the winning pitcher, losing but one game, and that one to the dreaded rival, Kiski. Calhoun pitched excellent ball. Cameron missed the early part of the season and did not get in good shape. His support was responsible for several of the games he lost.

Many of the Normal players will play for other teams during their vacation. Edmundson goes with Homestead, McKown with Bridgeville, Calhoun with Carnegie, Williams with Johnstown, Davis with Urisna, Cameron and Chambers with New Castle.

The local players, St. Clair, McCreight, Owens, Hammer and Moorhead, will likely form a town team. Of the 20 games played 14 were victories for Normal. The team lost but four out of 11 games played away from home. The team scored 156 runs to its opponents' 93.

REFEREE WILL BE SELECTED TODAY WITHOUT DOUBT

Both Young Corbett and Dave Sullivan Will Agree on an Official.

JIM CORBETT OBJECTED TO

Sullivan Claimed He Was Not Superstitious, but Feared the ex-Champion Might Be Inclined to Give His Namesake a Shade in Close Points.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

St. Louis, Mo., June 29.—Although Young Corbett and Dave Sullivan did not meet today to decide upon the referee for their bout, bad weather prevented the champion and President Haughton from driving out to Dave's training quarters as was planned.

There is not likely to be any trouble over selecting an official so far as Corbett is concerned. His manager, Johnny Corbett, stated today that he would accept any good man and that he favored some local referee to fill the position.

Harry Sharpe, recently appointed official referee of the club, is acceptable to both Young Corbett and his manager, and President Haughton also favors his selection. His name will be the first brought forward tomorrow when the men meet, and unless Sullivan objects he will get the place.

Hot Preliminary Arranged.

Alec Schneck and Tommy Sullivan will go on in the preliminary, an eight-round affair, at 122 pounds. Tommy's last appearance was in the preliminary to the Santry-Sullivan go, when he fairly clouted the head off Kid Childers of Louisville, winning in the first round. Schneck's last fight was with Eddie McFarland, with whom he drew in a fifteen-round bout.

Rain interfered greatly with the road work of both men today, and Young Corbett made no effort to visit the park as usual. Instead, he went through some practice in foot work and light calisthenics at the West End club. Steady exercise under his heavy sweater brought out a profuse perspiration on the champion, and he tipped the scales at little more than 128 pounds at the close of the day.

Young Corbett to Fight Hard.

Johnny Corbett stated that he was going to send his man in to win the fight according to present plans, and that he would inaugurate a hard battle from the first. In case Sullivan's line of fighting made a change advisable, however, he added that Young Corbett was fully prepared.

Little Jimmy Rothwell is a steady attendant at the work of his brother, and sits around often an afternoon watching the champion at work.

He weighs but 78 pounds and has an inclination to become a jockey, but his brother intends to start him out in some more definite line of business when he becomes older.

Dave Sullivan may not be superstitious, but although he knows that Young Corbett and James J. Corbett are no relation, he positively declined considering the former heavyweight champion as a referee in the bout Thursday.

Haughton wired Jim Corbett upon the point last week, at the suggestion of some local sporting men, but Sullivan set his foot down hard when he heard it. He would not even consider James J. as the official.

Although giving no reasons for his action, Sullivan probably fears that the assumption of Corbett's name by the featherweight champion might incline James J. to favor his namesake in close points of the bout.

ENGLISH EARL A POLO ENTHUSIAST

BECAME CONSPICUOUS IN THE INTERNATIONAL GAMES.

Charged Waterbury, the American Crack, With Cruelty to a Pony and Later Withdrew Charges—His Chief Amusements are Cricket Playing and Polo.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, June 29.—There are few more picuresque members of the British nobility than the earl of Shrewsbury and Talbot, who recently has been getting himself talked about again by prosecuting Lawrence Waterbury, the great "back" of the American polo team now in England, on a charge of cruelty to a pony.

It will probably be recalled that Mr. Waterbury used spurse on his mount in the first of the international polo games at Hurlingham and that it was at this time that the noble earl came forward as a humanitarian, and tried to have the law on the Americans right in the middle of the game. He afterward made it up by withdrawing the action which he had begun and inviting the whole American team to drive down to Hurlingham in his coach.

The earl of Shrewsbury, who takes precedence of all the other earls in England and Ireland, is rather an odd mixture. Coaching, polo playing and automobile driving are his chief amusements, but he makes a fad of managing a cab company, devoting almost as much time to it as he does to the administration of his 35,000 acres and being almost as proud of having, as he says, been the first to introduce rubber tired cabs in London and Paris as he is of the fact that one of his ancestors is mentioned in Shakespeare.

EARL OF SHREWSBURY,
Famous English Polo Player.

The earl's tally-ho was one of the most striking seen at the annual meeting of the Coaching club in Hyde Park the other day. His two "seats," Ingestre hall, in Staffordshire, and Alton Towers, in Stafford, are among the finest properties in the kingdom. But it is in the illustrious record of his house, of which he is the 20th earl, that this nobleman has most reason for pride.

One of his ancestors, Hugh de Talbot, held a castle against the attacks of King Henry I., another, the Shrewsbury, who appears in Shakespeare, was a famous fighter and was captured in France by Joan of Arc's army. The sixth earl was responsible for Mary Queen of Scots during her captivity and assisted at her execution, and the 12th was one of those who invited William of Orange to take the English throne.

The earl, who is now just 31, is famous as a fox hunter and is a member of the Carlton and Marlborough clubs—two of the most aristocratic organizations in London.

Weekly Review of Market Quotations

PITTSBURGH PRICES FOR FARM PRODUCTS

Oats Still Going Up—Canned Tomatoes Advance—Provisions Higher.

Summary for Last Week.

Since the beginning of last week there has been a slight improvement in bran, a forward movement in corn, and a rapid advance in oats. In other lines quotations are about the same as they were last Monday. Oats have gone forward between eight and nine cents a bushel in the last week, the market for No. 2 white closing very strong at 60 cents on Saturday. Many brokers are predicting very much higher quotations before there is a decline, receipts being light, with no heavy stocks in sight to relieve the situation. New oats will not be here for several weeks, and it looks as though there would be a period of high figures until they appear. The outlook for crops in the west is said to be good, the hope being now that there will be no rain to spoil the harvest.

Flour has declined from five to ten cents a barrel since last Monday, millers having reduced quotations several days ago. Sugar has not changed. Coffee is holding at the same range as prevailed last week, with primary markets lacking strength. Cereals are strong in sympathy with the corn and oats situation, some houses having advanced prices. Navy beans are unchanged, but firm. There has been no further advance in lake herring, but the light catches of the past week have not tended to make the situation any easier.

Canned tomatoes have advanced once more, spot price for standards being $1 55@1 60. Other canned goods are unchanged. Dried fruits are steady at same quotations as last week.

Old potatoes are almost cleaned up and new stock is steady with prices about on the same level as they were a week ago. Fancy box apples are unchanged, while new Virginia apples have commenced to appear in the market. Home grown cabbage is now offering and Baltimore stock is lower. Texas and Mississippi tomatoes are cheaper than at the beginning of last week and Tennessees are now arriving, commanding a trifle better figures than shipments from farther south. Green corn and string beans are more plentiful and lower. Blackberries and huckleberries have declined under the influence of heavier receipts; raspberries are unchanged, while strawberries are higher, fancy Oswegos bringing 18 to 20 cents on Saturday. Watermelons and cantaloupes are just about holding their own. California cantaloupes have commenced to arrive in the market, starting at a range of $7 00@7 50 on Thursday, which has now been reduced to $5 00@6 00. Gooseberries and currants are unchanged.

In tropical fruits oranges and bananas are steady, with prices unchanged, while Messina lemons are slightly lower, prices being the same as California. California peaches are now offering and plums from the same state are new arrivals. Cherries and apricots from the Pacific coast are more abundant and cheaper.

Butter advanced a half cent last Monday, since when there has been no change. Cheese is firm. Eggs are higher than they were a week ago, with receipts light.

There has been no change in poultry, except a reduction in live spring chickens, which are coming in more freely and of better size. Arrivals are not yet in excess of demand, however, and until receipts are more liberal there will be no decided decline in quotations.

Hams and breakfast bacon were advanced twice, the second increase occurring on Saturday. Smoked meats and lard advanced earlier in the week.

OFFICE OF CLAIRTON STEEL COMPANY.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 25th, 1902.

To the UNION TRUST COMPANY OF PITTSBURGH and MELLON NATIONAL BANK OF PITTSBURGH,

I wish to state for your information that the payment for the issue of bonds of the Clairton Steel Company, dated July 1st, 1902, is secured by a mortgage on the merged plants of the St. Clair Steel Company and the St. Clair Furnace Company into the Clairton Steel Company. The amount being expended at Clairton and covered by this mortgage is about eleven million dollars. When completed we will have in operation three blast furnaces of the capacity of fifteen hundred tons pig iron daily, and twelve open hearth furnaces. This steel plant and furnaces I consider the finest, and subject to the most economical operation, of any steel plant or furnace in the United States.

The open hearth furnaces will be ready by September 1st, and the blast furnaces by the first of the year.

I estimate the net earnings of the Clairton Steel Company on present prices at $3,500,000 per annum.

The principal and interest of the bonds are also guaranteed by the Crucible Steel Company of America, which Company owns all the capital stock of the Clairton Steel Company, and which Company had net earnings for the first fiscal year of $3,500,000 and the earnings this year are at a greater rate than $300,000 per month.

The Crucible Steel Company of America has a capital of $25,000,000 preferred, and $25,000,000 common stock, and has no mortgage indebtedness.

Respectfully yours,
W. P. SNYDER,
President Clairton Steel Company.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 30th, 1902.

The undersigned offer $4,000,000 of above described bonds at par and accrued interest. Subscription lists will be opened at the respective offices of the undersigned on Thursday, July 3d, 1902. The right is reserved to reject any applications or to award a smaller amount than applied for.

Payment for bonds allotted must be made on or before July 5th, 1902, and transferable interim certificates will be delivered pending the engraving of the bonds.

The undersigned consider the bonds above described as of the highest class of local industrial bonds, and recommend them as an investment of undoubted security.

"GOD SAVE THE KING" THE APPEAL OF MANY MINISTERS

KING'S LIFE IS PRAYED FOR IN MANY CHURCHES

Pittsburgh Episcopalians Ask That Edward VII. Be Spared.

GENEROSITY IS PRAISED

The Rev. Dr. E. H. Ward Says Noble Heart of Stricken Monarch Was Responsible For England's Magnanimous Terms to the Boers.

"God save the king and grant him long to live!" was the supplication that went up from hundreds of throats in the various Protestant Episcopal churches of the two cities yesterday morning. In some of the churches prayers were offered up at all the services. Had Bishop Whitehead been home there is no doubt that he would have ordered by special communication what was done yesterday generously and fervently.

THE REV. DR. E. H. WARD,
Who Paid Tribute to England's Stricken King.

In many of the churches the rectors referred in the kindliest terms to England's monarch, and found good traits in his character worthy of praise.

The Rev. Dr. E. H. Ward, rector of St. Peter's, Forbes and Craft avenues, was able to conduct the services yesterday morning, though he has been confined to bed for nearly two weeks. In the course of the service a prayer for the recovery of the king was offered.

Praise for the King.

Dr. Ward had intended to preach a sermon on King Edward, but at the last moment found himself too weak to bear up under a lengthy service. He furnished the Gazette the manuscript of this sermon, which is as follows:

"All English people," Dr. Ward says, "in fact we may say all civilized nations, are today praying for the speedy recovery of King Edward. We, today, offer a prayer from the depths of our hearts to the same end, for we believe that the great British empire now needs just such a man as Edward VII. to hold fast the reins of government.

"It is not unfrequently said that the king is a mere figurehead, that he has no more to do with the governing of England's possessions than the statue of liberty on Capitol hill, Washington, has to do with governing the United States. Such statements are as false as they are usually malevolent. In the short time since he has ascended the throne his influence has been profoundly felt.

"To him, more than any other man in Great Britain, is due the magnanimous peace, which has just been concluded with the Boers. Fifteen months ago, Lord Kitchener proposed terms, almost identical with the terms recently agreed upon. Mr. Chamberlain pronounced them 'folly and nonsense.'

Generous to Boers.

"They were, to use his language, preposterous and likely to lead to mischief and trouble.' Has Mr. Chamberlain, think you, changed his mind, or is there a stronger hand behind him? There is a stronger hand behind him, and it is that of Edward VII.

"Great Britain could gain no prestige in the conquest of such a foe as the poor benighted Boers. There could be but little glory in conquering an enemy outnumbered ten to one; but in granting terms of peace so magnanimous, England, through its big-hearted monarch, has achieved undying fame. Nowhere in the world's history will you find such generous treatment of a fallen foe.

"Truly 'peace hath her victories no less than war.' Universal amnesty, constitutional government, purity in administration of the law, equal educational advantages, assistance in rebuilding their homes, and beginning life afresh—where in the world's history will you find anything to equal that? And now the king, recognizing the Boers as his subjects, comes forward in true kingly style and invites all his South African subjects to 'co-operate in promoting the welfare of their common country.' God save the king, and grant him in health and wealth long to live!"

Ceremony Was Postponed.

Yesterday afternoon was set for the laying of the corner stone of the Jerusalem Baptist colored church on Independence street, near Main street, West End, but owing to the wet weather the ceremony was postponed until July 20. The stone was to have been laid with great ceremony and many people were waiting in the rain yesterday at the hour appointed.

HELD FIRST MASS IN NEW CHURCH

THE REV. FATHER LEO MEYER CELEBRATED IT AT HOLY NAME.

Friends, Relatives and Neighbors Crowded Edifice Made Historic By Father Mollinger—Will Receive His Appointment at Bishop's Hands This Week.

The Holy Name Catholic church, Troy Hill, made famous by Father Mollinger, was the scene, yesterday morning, of an unusually interesting ceremony, the occasion being the celebration of his first mass by the Rev. Father Leo Meyer, who was born and reared within the boundaries of this parish. The ceremony had been announced last Sunday and, as a result, the church was taxed to its capacity by the relatives and friends of the young priest. Everyone for miles around Troy Hill knew him as a boy.

The ceremony opened with the celebration of a solemn high mass, the young priest being the celebrant. The Rev. Father Joseph Meyer of St. Peter's church, South Side, a brother of the young priest, was arch-priest, the Rev. Father Walter, prefect of St. Vincent's seminary, deacon, and the Rev. Father Stadlemann of the Holy Ghost college, sub-deacon. Mr. Thomas Wren, a seminarian at St. Vincent's, was first master of ceremonies, and Prof. J. R. Hoffman, assistant.

The Rev. Father J. B. Duffner, pastor of the Holy Name church, preached the sermon.

His text was, "Thou art a priest forever, according to the order of Melchisedech."

He referred to the sacredness of a priest's calling, and the long years of study the church requires of candidates for the ministry. John and Teresa Meyer, the aged parents of the young Levite, and scores of immediate relatives and friends occupied the pews nearest to the main altar.

At the conclusion of the mass a reception was tendered Father Meyer in the school building adjoining the church. Here the entire congregation, scores of grown up men and women with whom he had been associated as a boy in the Mt. Troy schools, bade him godspeed in his ministry.

Father Meyer was educated at St. Vincent's college, Latrobe, and ordained in the historic cathedral at Baltimore by his Eminence James Cardinal Gibbons. He was ordained for the diocese of Pittsburgh, and will receive his appointment this week from Bishop Phelan.

WELSH PREACHER'S TALK.

The Rev. Edward Jones Occupies Pulpit in Chatham Street Church.

The Rev. Edward Jones, a noted Welsh preacher and author, preached yesterday at all the services in the Chatham Street Baptist church. In the evening his subject was "The Service of Love."

"Christ," said he, "calls what is good, beautiful; and deems what is beautiful, good. There is nothing beautiful but it is good. An aspect of goodness is generosity. Again, there is nothing good but what is generous. We say bright feathers make bright birds, but more correctly 'handsome is that handsome does.' The beauty of the earth is in its fruit, the beauty of a woman is her godliness. And thus we have love's service. Love's service is generous, it is good, it is beautiful. So, too, in the service of God.

"It is not so much what we do, but what we do for Christ. Could men only do Christ's work with the same earnestness and the same devotion with which they ply their various avocations, this, indeed, would be a beautiful world."

Mr. Jones was tendered a reception in the afternoon by the Welsh residents of the city.

ENTHUSIASM NOT DAMPENED BY RAIN

Religious Services Were Held as Usual Last Night in Schenley Park.

Notwithstanding the wind and the rain that poured down on all the parks, yesterday, the Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young and his earnest workers congregated last night in Schenley park for the Sunday services. There was no shortening of the services or of the sermon. The services were held for a time in the open air, during which the Boston Ladies' Symphony orchestra accompanied the singing of "Onward Christian Soldier."

The meeting adjourned to the large tent where Dr. Young preached from the text, "Who giveth songs in the night." He said in part:

"Vibrate a steel wire rapidly and you have noise; more rapidly, music; 270 times per second and you have concert pitch in midde C; more and more rapidly and the ear detects not anything, but the eye sees light—first red, then orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo, violet. Is not light a very high order of music? Believe you that to the Almighty and the saints above the stars are ceaseless anthems? Does this explain God's expression in Job: 'When the morning stars sang together?'

"If to [illegible]kind robbed of Eden there was spared a portion of celestial treasure, was it not the song? Else it is a bliss burst o'er the battlements of heaven and fallen here that mortals may participate therein—a ray streaming through the centuries to every clime, cheering cathedral dome, penetrating palace, benignly shining into cottages indewlt by poverty."

CHURCH WAS DEDICATED.

Dr. Moffat Preached Opening Sermon at Sampsons Mills.

Rain kept the attendance down at the dedication of the new Presbyterian church at Sampsons Mills yesterday afternoon, but the program was carried out, and Dr. Moffat, president of Washington and Jefferson college, preached an able sermon.

This new church is in some respects unique and is a handsome frame structure. The seats, windows and other furnishments have been in use for many years, and came from the First Presbyterian church of McKeesport. The congregation is about two years old and numbers 45. It was organized by the Rev. J. C. Oliver of Circleville. The Rev. Mr. Oliver was successful in raising funds to build the edifice and the church has practically no debt.

When the congregation was organized and work on the building commenced, Sampsons Mills was "in the country." It is different now. Land all around the building and right up to its site has been plotted into town lots, and it will soon be the center of a suburb of the city of McKeesport.

GEOLOGY PROVES STORIES TOLD IN OLD TESTAMENT

Learned Scientist Tells of Confirmation Furnished By Nature.

THE RED SEA CROSSING

Conditions Indicate That a Strong East Wind Could Have Accomplished Miracle as Related—Other Biblical Stories Are Explained.

"Geological Confirmations of Old Testament History" was the subject of a learned discourse delivered last night in the Bellefield Presbyterian church by Prof. G. Frederic Wright of Oberlin college, Ohio.

Prof. Wright is one of the prominent geologists attending the convention of the American Society for the Advancement of Science. There was an unusually large attendance last night, owing to the importance of Prof. Wright's subject.

PROF. G. FREDERIC WRIGHT of Oberlin College.

"The Bible as a historical authority," said Prof. Wright, "stands on its own foundation, and is to be trusted, even where there is no independent confirmation of its statements. The most we can expect of geology is that it gives indirect confirmation by affording opportunity to cross-examine the testimony. There are four such opportunities of special import.

Geology's Confirmation.

"In the first place we have the 'crossing of the Red sea.' It is said in the Bible to have been facilitated by the providential arising of a strong east wind. About a year ago, while on tour of this country, I was impressed, on examining the ground, with the conformity of the physical conditions to the description given us in the sacred book. There was no questioning the description from this view-point.

"The children of Israel would, naturally, have been, on that eventful night, about 15 miles north of the town which is now at the head of the sea, while just north of them were the Bitter lakes. For a distance of 10 miles in length, a mile in breadth, east of these hosts of Israel there would stretch a shallow channel of water, six or seven feet deep, supposing, of course, that the land level was then 25 feet lower than now, as is evident from the geological conditions.

"The strong east wind spoken of would easily lay this bare and afford Moses the needed opportunity of crossing the Red sea without so much as getting his sandles even moistened, while when this wind (the east wind) changed the water would roll back, and, as was intended, engulf Pharoah and his entire army. Such a story, so conforming to the conditions, could not have been invented. It cannot be otherwise than the truth, the whole truth. Geological conditions affirm it.

"Again we have conformity appearing in connection with the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah. Here Almighty God used the explosion of a hidden reservoir of gas and oil. Again geological conditions conform with the divine plan. The Dead sea lies in an exhausted gas and oil region. The description in Genesis is at once too resonant to have been invented.

Miracles Confirmed.

"The crossing of the Jordan by Joshua also affords remarkable evidence of having been written by an eye witness.

"Thus might I go on, my friends, bringing up evidence after evidence showing you how the science of geology proves the conformity of the physical and aerial conditions to the startling occurrences recorded in the Bible, no matter what they be. Since man came into the world there has been an instability of geological conditions in central and Western Asia which, from a scientific view, renders the story of the flood credible.

"The phrase in Genesis, 'The fountains of the great deep were broken up,' is a good geological phrase indicating a depression of the land-limit, and of that there is abundant independent evidence. Such a conformity of the narratives to the geological conditions afford us the strangest presentations in favor of this truth."

Will Build a Mission Church.

A contract will be let this week by the First Presbyterian congregation of Wilkinsburg for the erection of a mission church building at the corner of Glenn street and Swissvale avenue, Wilkinsburg. The lot has already been purchased, and the new structure will cost approximately $5,000. The congregation of the First Presbyterian church [illegible] provide all the funds.

If you find a cold creeping on, keep a bottle of Dr. D. Jayne's Expectorant near at hand, and take a dose occasionally. It will relieve at once, and soon bring about a cure.

PLAN RELIGIOUS WORLD CONGRESS

WILL BE HELD IN CONNECTION WITH THE OLYMPIAN GAMES.

Follows Idea That Games of Skill and Endurance Had Their Origin in Worship in Ancient Times—Bishop Fallows' Idea.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, June 29.—A gathering of representatives of the many religions and creeds of the world, which will rival the congress of religions of the world's fair, is planned in connection with the Olympian games in 1904 by Bishop Fallows, chairman of the committee on ethical and religious organizations.

The religious feature of the games will be organized on the same broad lines as the games themselves. Every country which is to be invited to send its athletic representatives will be urged to have its religions represented as well.

Following the idea that all games of endurance and skill had their origin in religious worship in ancient times, this committee will endeavor to show that the connection has not been lost in later years. It is held that the temperance and self-denial exacted of candidates for modern sports of all kinds are closely allied to the principles of self-control, which are considered a part of every creed in civilized lands, and that athletics and religion work together in forming a race of perfect human beings.

The six Sundays included in the time occupied by the games will be devoted to the demonstration of this idea. Bishop Fallows was prominently connected with the world's fair congress of religions and he is planning to make the religious and ethical feature of the Olympian games a successful one.

TO AUTHORIZE CHURCH.

Pittsburgh Presbytery Will This Morning Grant Permission for New East End Congregation.

The Pittsburgh presbytery will settle finally this morning the question of establishing a new Presbyterian congregation in the East End, as petitioned by the Rev. Dr. J. T. Gibson and others. As no compromise can be made that will please Dr. Gibson and his supporters, the presbytery will, in all probability, grant the latter permission to establish the new congregation.

It is conceded by the members of the Fourth church that some such movement is demanded in that district, and the presbytery likewise has been convinced, but the latter proposed to have the Fourth church move to a more central location and take in the families embraced in the proposed new congregation.

The Fourth church saw the wisdom of such a move and laid the proposition before Dr. Gibson and his supporters. They, however, desire an independent congregation and refuse to consider anything that has not this in view. As a result the presbytery will be forced to grant Dr. Gibson's petition or lose its foothold in that part of the city.

Prominent members of the presbytery stated yesterday that there is no doubt but that the new congregation will be recognized and ordered to carry on its work. The Rev. Dr. W. P. Shrom, pastor of the Fourth church, stated yesterday that he had never taken the affair so seriously as to think of resigning. He added that the Fourth church has done its part and will take no more part in the discussion.

CORNER STONE LAYING.

Ceremonies Attended Beginning of Construction of Allegheny Church Edifice.

The corner stone of the German Evangelical Protestant church, Rhine street and Robinson road, Troy Hill, Allegheny, was laid at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon with appropriate ceremonies. The exercises were in charge of the pastor, the Rev. William Geese, assisted by the Revs. Gustav Schmidt, C. Wittich and E. C. E. Ernst.

After a short parade of the members of the church, headed by the Columbia Junior cornet band of Spring Hill, the Rev. Mr. Geese made a short address. He was followed by the Rev. Mr. Schmidt. Both addresses were in German.

The Rev. C. Goosmann delivered the opening prayer, which was followed with an anthem by the church choir. The choir of the Smithfield street church also sang an anthem.

The Rev. Mr. Geese laid the corner stone, in which was placed a box containing current copies of church and daily papers, a copy of the Bible, etc.

The Teutonia Maennerchor, led by Prof. H. P. Eiker, sang several selections. The Rev. Mr. Ernst delivered the benediction.

The new church edifice will be of brick and will cost $12,000, $6,000 of which has already been raised by subscription. The auditorium will seat about 500 people.
